Battleship Texas in Collision With Steamer "Steel Seafarer"

Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Try to Stage a Comeback for Glendale Verdugo Park

IN OUR COLUMN, "Editorials by the People" in Monday's edition, there appeared a letter from J. R. Grey of this city.

This letter takes exception to two movements which are being considered with favor by our local chamber of commerce. One is an attempt to start a movement to again secure the former Glendale Verdugo park, and the other refers to the committee which is working with the Los Angeles Board of Freeholders which is endeavoring to construct a charter for that city.

* * *

IF THE INDIVIDUALS who are trying to resurrect the park idea, so far as the old Glendale-Verdugo park is concerned, would put their ears to the ground, they would soon find out that the people do not want it.

Mr. Grey mentions in his letter that the results of the last election should have settled the matter for all time. While the part question was not on the ballot, its kindred proposition, the airport purchase, was, and the vote cast was registered more against the park than it was against the airport. The parties responsible for putting the airport on the ballot did so with the feeling it would carry the heaviest vote of the two propositions and make it easy to hold the park instead of turning it back to the owners as was done.

* * *

THIS PARK deal has never looked good to us. Too many misstatements regarding it have been fed to the public.

At the time the city turned it back the story was handed to the newspapers by supposedly authorized authoritative persons to the effect that it had been resold for $100,000, or nearly $40,000 more than the city originally purchased it for. Time has proved this statement to be false and they now tell us that it can be again secured at the regular price plus cost of improvements.

* * *

LET'S FORGET this particular park. The people don't want and won't have it. If the authorities repurchase it with this knowledge the step would be regretted.

* * *

AS REGARDS the Los Angeles charter, why be interested in it at all. It is none of our business what kind of a charter that city has. We have one for Glendale which suits us pretty well and we hope to use it for some time. If in the future we learn through experience that it can be improved on we can very easily amend it. Our people bothering with a charter of another city looks out of place to us.

* * *

IF IT IS an attempt to further annexation, let's come out and say so. It can be of no use to us under other conditions. This kind of propaganda does not help our sewer proposition any. We think it is liable to cause us to lose out entirely. Glendale has gone forward so fast as she is, that we can see nothing in annexation, regardless of how the Los Angeles charter is worded.

EARLY SEASON RAINS, PAST AND PRESENT

Within the past 24 hours Glendale has experienced a flash in the pan in the way of a thunder storm—pyrotechnics in lightning and thunder but not much rain.

At 10 o'clock this morning the rain gauge of T. W. Preston recorded rainfall of .16 of an inch for the storm. Rain this early in the season is not as rare as many persons think. The record of past years is here submitted:

In 1909, August 12, 1 inch accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning.

In 1914, July 6, .04 of an inch. This was the year of the greatest flood in Glendale's history, in February, when a wide stream of water rushed down the east side of Brand, flooding many stores. The wash was a raging river, wrecking three large houses.

In 1916, September 30, 1.15 inches.

In 1918, September 14, .15 of an inch. September 27, .60 of an inch.

In 1919, Sept. 27, 28, 29 and 30, 2.73 inches.

In 1921, Sept. 30, .32 of an inch.

GLENDALE HERO OF TWO WARS DIES ON FRENCH SOIL

Lieut. Georges Le Mesnager Fought in France, Prussia; Also World War

A life filled with many adventures and hardships under the battle flag of France was brought to a close with the death of Lieut. George Le Mesnager, formerly a resident of Hermosita drive, Glendale, at the town of his nativity, Mayenne, France. He was a veteran of two wars, hero of Verdun and said to have been the oldest soldier to serve throughout the war. At the time of his death he was 79 years of age.

Lieutenant Le Mesnager was a pioneer of Southern California, coming here in 1866. In 1870, when the Franco-Prussion war broke out, he joined the colors of his native land and served throughout the war as a private. After the close of the war he returned to California and for several years acted as interpreter in the Los Angeles courts and was well known in legal circles. Later he retired to his vineyard at the end of Hermosita drive, Verdugo Woodlands, Glendale, where he was when the world war broke out in 1914.

Lieut. Le Mesnager notified the military authorities of his country that he was ready for service and on August 4, 1914, he started for France. In spite of the fact that he was 70 years of age at that time, Lieut. Le Mesnager was enlisted in the 106th infantry of the French army. He returned to the United States, with the rank of color sergeant, on a furlough in 1916, suffering from wounds received on the battle front. He was recommended for promotion and in 1917 again sailed for France with the rank of lieutenant. During the remainder of war he filled the post of liaison officer for the French army at the headquarters of General Pershing.

He was given the medal of the Legion of Honor and also decorated with the Croix de Guerre. After his distinguished service on the battlefields of France, Lieut. Le Mesnager lived very contentedly for a few years at his home in the Verdugo Woodlands. He was a very friendly man and liked to greet the citizens he met on the street. His health began to fail in 1921 when he suffered a stroke of apoplexy. A second stroke in 1922 left him partially paralyzed. He was taken to France last year by his wife in the hope that he would recover.

Lieutenant Le Mesnager leaves a widow and a son, Louis Le Mesnager of Glendale, and two daughters, Anne and Louise, the latter having recently been married at Chicago.

PIGEONS HUNTED DOWN TO DEATH

TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 12 (United Press).—City officials of Tucson are conducting hunting expeditions around the public buildings and schools here in an effort to rid the city of the great flocks of domestic pigeons, which have increased to the point where they are a public nuisance. More than 400 birds were slaughtered in one public hunt recently, which was headed by City Judge L. O. Cowan.

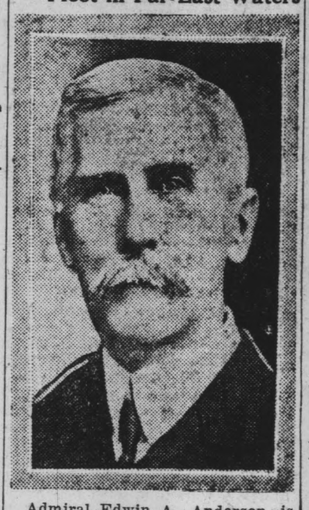
U. S. Admiral Commands World's Greatest Relief Fleet in Far East Waters



Admiral Edwin A. Anderson is commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet. Immediately after the earthquake disaster in Japan, the Navy Department assigned all vessels in Asiatic water for relief purposes and Admiral Anderson was ordered to assume control of all Government agencies, including Shipping Board vessels. Warships were rushed to Japan at once with supplies, doctors and nurses.

MORE THAN 700 STUDENTS AT 'EAGLE ROCK'

Prophecied 700 Enrollment Total Passed at Central School

Reaching well over the anticipated 700 mark, the attendance at Central School shows the remarkable strides which Eagle Rock has been making in the past few months in absorbing new residents. By noon yesterday there were 696 children enrolled, and others are coming in tardily from late vacations and other delays which have prevented their prompt attendance.

All classes started off smoothly, and by noon everything was settled and pupils were being introduced to their new work for the coming year. A remarkable feature of this year's enrollment is the scarcity of advanced students. Where there were seventy pupils in the A8 grade last year, there are fourteen this year. However, the B 8 grade makes up for this with a total of seventy students. Next in number is Miss Boley's B7 class with 67, the B1 grade with 54, and Miss Hall's class, meeting in the shop temporarily, with 53.

The P-T. A. cafeteria was opened yesterday and the children were provided with hot lunches. All adjustments will be made within a few days and everything will be in readiness for the real educational accomplishment planned for this term.

CAR SERVICE EXTENSION IS AGAIN TO FRONT

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, Secretary Sanders reported an attempt to reopen the plea which was made last week by residents between Edendale and Glendale for the extension of the Edendale line to the Glendale city limits. Paul Shoup and other officials of the Pacific Electric line at the hearing before the Public Service commission of Los Angeles testified it would be utterly impracticable for the road to make the change, and chamber of commerce members from Glendale's transportation committee hoped the matter was settled, as they considered it would be much to the disadvantage of this city to have its service congested by cars making all the stops as do the Edendale cars.

W. L. Twining reported the attendance of the chamber committee, Councilman Davis and others on the conference with the board of public utilities in Los Angeles and the plea made at that time for the extension of the line to Richardson station and a fare of 6 cents. He expressed the opinion there was not a chance that the board of public utilities would reopen the question as it would reduce the rate of speed of Glendale cars from 8 to 15 minutes.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DIRECTORS HAVE BUSY SESSION LAST EVENING

They Talk of Most Everything Under the Sun, Make Many Recommendations and Vote in Some New Members to Help Guide City's Destinies

FOR HOUR PARKING, MORE BRAND LIGHT

Discuss Tree Cutting, New Advertising Schemes, Boulevard Stops, Taussaud Wax Works, More State Highway Construction; Hear Hobson

In connection with the report of George Karr, chairman of the civics committee of the chamber of commerce, relative to matters referred to it, such as the cutting down of trees in city parkways, the parking of cars in front of places of business, etc., there was considerable discussion of these matters and the board voted indorsement of the committee's recommendations which were: A one hour parking law and a new regulation by the city council to provide for the burning of all the street lights on Brand boulevard until 11 o'clock Saturday nights.

The advantages which would result from the removal of trees in parkway on San Fernando road in front of the Gateway Theater and other places of business were set forth by Lloyd Wilson and City Manager Reeves and Harry White talked of the menace of the big but shallow rooted eucalypti on Lomita avenue. No action was taken, however, as the parkway trees are subject to city control.

HOBSON ASKS CO-OPERATION

A message from Richmond P. Hobson who was in Glendale Tuesday morning, was conveyed by Secretary Sanders to the Chamber of Commerce directors at their meeting last night. It set forth a plan to ask chambers of commerce all over the United States to take the lead in backing the principles and teachings of the Anti-Narcotic Association of America. Captain Hobson is of the opinion that the campaign of education and its financing can be better handled by chambers of commerce than by religious or educational bodies and urges that it is a democratic matter which appeals to the entire community. In his plea, as presented by Mr. Sanders, he asked for an appointment to appear before the chamber and explain his methods in carrying on the anti-narcotic work.

ADVERTISING PLANNED

An excellent report on the advertising committee's work was made by its chairman, W. L. Twining, to Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday evening. On the recommendation of the committee the board voted to appropriate $35 for an advertisement in "Glendale Community Life," a new fortnightly publication which is being started in Glendale as an advertising and promotion medium.

The next most important recommendation of the committee which also received the indorsement of the directorate was to see that the new model electric ngine of the Glendale-Montrose Railroad which is to be exhibited at a big electrical exhibition at Atlantic City, be properly placarded as a Glendale-Montrose engine which will run from Glendale to Los Angeles; that it be placed in charge of a man who will hand out literature and otherwise advertise Glendale, and that it carry banners as it speeds across the United States announcing: "I am on the way to Glendale, California, the fastest growing city in the United States." The matter was referred back to the advertising committee with power to act.

Mr. Twining also told the story of six families from Leeds City, South Dakota, who had been attracted to Glendale by the C. of C. booklet, and to whom he had sold lots in Woodland Park.

In connection with the report there was considerable discussion relative to electric signs advertising Glendale, and the board agreed that such signs should be placed at entrance points on Broadway, Brand, Los Feliz, Colorado, San Fernando and Verdugo road. As this matter is under consideration by a committee of the Realty board, of which James W. Pearson is chairman, directors voted the appointment of a committee of three composed of Lloyd Wilson, Harry White, and P. J. Hayselden, to co-operate with the Realty board.

LETTER FROM MRS. HARDING

A very nice letter from Mrs. Harding received by the Chamber of Commerce this week acknowledges the memorial sent by the Glendale chamber, stating that she deeply appreciates the message of sympathy.

BOULEVARD STOP

At a meeting of Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday night, recommendation was made for the passage of a traffic law similar to that in force in Chicago which requires all motor vehicles to come to a full stop before crossing or entering upon through highways. Lloyd Wilson endorsed the recommendation and told how its enforcement in Chicago had reduced casualties more than 50 per cent, urging that it be applied to Brand, Broadway, Glendale avenue, Colorado and San Fernando road. City Manager Reeves pronounced it impracticable because motorists would not obey it and also because it would be in conflict with the motor vehicle act.

The matter was referred to the civics committee for investigation.

NEW MEMBERS VOTED IN

New members voted into the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting of directors Tuesday night were International Chemical Products Co., W. S. Fowler, Valley Plumbing Co., Fredericke Reinicke, and J. I. Wernette.

Assistant Secretary Goodloe reported collections for the week of $193.25, for the month of $923.50, and total cash on hand, $3420.

TAUSSAUD WAX WORKS

The proposition of Mr. Gandy, representing Louis Taussaud of London in regard to the establishment in Glendale of duplication of the famous Taussaud Wax Works Museum of London, was submitted to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening and on motion of W. E. Hewitt, the president was requested to appoint a committee of five to confer with Mr. Gandy in regard to the matter.

TARIFF DIVORCE ASKED

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a letter from the Western Traffic Association asking it to go on record relative to divorcing the tariff question from politics. Director Campbell said it couldn't be done and the board voted to place the letter on file.

HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

Directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce voted to endorse a movement started by the Monterey chamber to speed the construction of a link in a proposed coast highway or mountain drive near San Luis Obispo and Monterey for which bonds were voted to the amount of $4,000,000 in 1919. A conference is to be held at Monterey September 24 in regard to the matter and the Glendale body was asked to send endorsing resolutions or delegates to that conference. Director Campbell said he was familiar with the proposed road which would ultimately extend from San Francisco to San Diego, and on his recommendation the board voted to instruct Secretary Sanders to send the requested resolutions of endorsement.

JAPAN'S TRAGEDY ONE OF GREATEST IN ALL HISTORY

Deaths 150,000; Injured and Missing More Than Million

[By Associated Press]

TOKIO, Sept. 12.—Deaths from the earthquakes, fire and tidal waves, in and around Tokio were estimated today to number 150,000.

Groups of 100 and more bodies have been found in various spots.

The government informed the American embassy that the relief personnel en route would be welcome.

American marines have landed, erecting a bakery and an automobile repair shop at the American embassy.

The duty on building materials has been removed.

Reactional earthquakes have fallen in number to 20 daily.

OSAKA, Sept. 12.—What is reported to be an official compilation of earthquake casualties estimates the dead, injured and missing at 1,356-749.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The destruction of Yokohama is so complete that the government is contemplating abandoning the site of the city and enlarge Tokio enough to absorb the population and industries of Yokohama, according to a telegram to the Japanese Times.

BOY SCOUTS IN NATION-WIDE CIVIC GOOD TURN

The forces of the Boy Scouts of America are to be drawn up in a nation-wide Civic Good Turn in the form of assistance in community rat-killing campaigns. The executive board, Boy Scouts of America, has performed what may be termed "The Week's Best Good Turn," by its recent official backing of Scouts' help in organized effort, to rid the land of the malignant rodent.

That Scouting's standards of fair play and humane ideals will in no wise be endangered by Scouts' participation in the extermination of the pests, is cited by Dr. W. T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological park, known the world over for his high sportsmanship and sympathetic knowledge of animal life.

"I cannot conceive of a more laudable use of the surplus energies of the Boy Scouts than in helping in the task of bringing about the total extinction of the common rat, the recognized pest throughout the world," says Dr. Hornaday. "The Boy Scouts should be commended and encouraged in the ruthless killing of rats. If the loss of the millions of dollars to agriculture and the trade, caused by these animals, is not sufficient to justify destruction, then consider the further menace as the carriers of many contagious diseases which they alone are the means of scattering broadcast. In my opinion there is no danger of impairing the morals of Boy Scouts or encouraging ruthless slaughter of wild animals while engaged in the extermination of these loathsome pests. If the Boy Scouts of America should be the means of killing off all domestic rats and rodents they would be entitled to a medal and a monument a mile high to show the appreciation of the world in general."

MARKET STREET IN SAN FRANCISCO AGAIN ON LEVEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (United Press).—Lower Market street merchants and the hundreds of thousands of commuters who pass over lower Market street daily en route to the ferries, are breathing sighs of relief as completion of the work of raising and paving Market street nears.

The street from the Battery down to the docks, about four blocks, nad sagged nearly 17 inches since being paved and filled in last in 1906. Buildings and all went down with the street, except the new structures that were built on piling 100 feet long. Now the street is up, the sidewalks up and the stores still down. Remodeled entrances are the rule everywhere, some places having a step to get in, others inclines. Some wags are eagerly waiting for the first rains to pour down the inclines. Meanwhile the street itself looks fine—and 17 inches taller.

GLENDALE'S RED CROSS QUOTA IS COMING ON WELL

Glendale's Red Cross quota is looking up a bit. After yesterday's solicitation by representatives of the chapter in the banks of the city and some canvassing of the business district by L. T. Rowley and others, Mrs. Bartlett, chairman, was able to report to the Pacific Division subscriptions totaling $2058.32.

Glendale's minimum quota is but $3432, a small sum for a city of the size and wealth of Glendale to contribute towards the relief of victims of such a terrific disaster as overtook Japan. With a boasted population of 40,000 representing about 10,000 heads of families, a contribution of but $1 each would more than treble the quota asked for.

Time is the essence of this relief movement and Red Cross officials are appealing to all who have any intention of contributing to give now so that it may be available to the sufferers with the least possible loss of time.

HIGH ENROLLMENT SHOWS SEXES NEAR EQUAL

Some Classes Are Already Filled; Others Overflowing

Enrollment totals yesterday at the Glendale Union high school, showed 740 boys and 830 girls registered, the boys representing 47 per cent of the whole, the girls 53 per cent.

Never before, says Principal Moyse, have the sexes been so nearly equal and he considers it an encouraging sign; an indication that boys and their parents are realizing the need of more education before forsaking school to get a job.

Another interesting development was the enrollment of 218 new students who have moved to Glendale since school closed and who have all been enrolled above the 9th year.

English and mathematics classes are all filled and in history and civics where enrollment is especially heavy, three new classes will have to be provided.

Many more students are coming in today and a heavy enrollment is looked for next Monday.

In estimating classes required for this year school authorities allowed for an increase of 20 per cent. In Mr. Moyse's opinion that allowance has already been exceeded, but not until the close of the month is it probable that any accurate figures can be secured on the year's enrollment as students will be constantly coming in during the next four weeks.

VIVID LIGHTNING, HEAVY THUNDER AT BEACH CITIES

[By Associated Press]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 12.—Northern part of Long Beach last night was visited by a freak electrical storm which caused damage to electric lines, the burning out of switch boxes and the darkening of the Signal Hill oil fields and homes in that vicinity. Sharp peals of thunder were part of the general disturbance of the elements. A general rain fell throughout the night.

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 12.—An unusual electrical storm swept over this city last night about 9 o'clock. Great flashes of lightning illuminated the sky and frequent roars of thunder shook many frame houses. A light rainfall was general all night and today the sky remains overcast, though no rain has fallen since an early hour this morning.

BOTH PARTIES GIVEN DIVORCE

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 12 (United Press).—W. H. Plummer and Verna Plummer, divorced here, can each boast of winning a decree. A sympathetic court, which heard the evidence, decided that honors were about even and granted each a decision on the grounds of cruelty.

BATTLESHIP TEXAS COLLIDES WITH STEAMER

Brief Dispatches Relate Another Tragedy in 'Graveyard of Ships'

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 12.—The battleship Texas, bound for San Francisco from San Pedro, collided with the steamer Steel Seafarer, of the Isthmian line, 14 miles north of Point Arguella at 6:50 a. m., according to word reaching here. The collision occurred in a heavy fog in the vicinity where seven destroyers went on the rocks last Saturday.

A wireless to the Radio Corporation of America declared the Texas had inflicted a hole in No. 2 hold of the merchant vessel.

Immediately following the crash the Texas signaled to the battleship Oklahoma, which in turn warned the other vessels of the fleet.

The Oklahoma came in close to give aid if necessary but a survey revealed that the damage was above the water line and that the Steel Seafarer was in no danger of sinking.

Later messages received here indicated the Steel Seafarer will proceed under her own steam to San Francisco. The Texas is apparently undamaged.

The Steal Seafarer left here last night. She is a vessel of 3471 net tons and is in command of Captain Kitt.

Reports reaching here declare the merchant ship has a large hole in her bow above the water line, but is in no immediate danger.

The Texas was standing south with the Battleships Maryland, Oklahoma, Arizona, New Mexico and Pennsylvania. The armada was traveling in column formation and was proceeding cautiously through a dense fog.

ENGLISH LADY EXPLORER VISITS GRIM RAISULI

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Rosita Forbes, the English explorer, has returned to England after a trip through Morocco and announced that she was the first white woman to have visited Raisuli, the famous Moroccan bandit. She stayed for eleven days in the brigand chief's mountain stronghold where he holds court with his two wives, nine daughters, three sons and three score slaves.

The explorer said that Raisuli, who claims a pedigree that goes back to Noah, has a surprising knowledge of European politics.

C. OF C. WILL AID RED CROSS FUND FOR JAPAN RELIEF

In response to the request of officers of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Sanders and Assistant Secretary Goodloe put in part of Tuesday afternoon soliciting subscriptions for the quota of the Glendale chapter of the Red Cross and secured about $35.

The executive officers of the chapter had a meeting in the afternoon at the chamber to devise ways and means of raising the rest of the chapter's quota by a canvass of the business district, and through Secretary Sanders appealed to the directorate of the chamber for assistance At the meeting of directors Tuesday night the board voted on motion of W. E. Hewitt that a committee of three be appointed to confer with Mrs. John Robert White and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett.

Directors were in agreement that for the credit of the city it could not be permitted to fall down on its quota of which only about 50 per cent or $1600 has been raised.

THE WEATHER

[By Associated Press]

Southern California: Fair tonight and Thursday, except cloudy near the coast tonight and in the morning, moderate northwesterly winds.

DAMAGED

BUSINESS IS FINE IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Is business right in Southern California?

Collector of Internal Revnue Rex Goodcell answered that question yesterday by making public his monthly report of the collection of federal taxes for August which discloses the receipts from various classes of taxes that reflect active business conditions and which he forwarded to Washington.

"There is no truer business barometer than revenue tax figures," declared Collector Goodcell, in announcing increases in tax receipts of different classes, ranging from 11 per cent to 586 per cent. He pointed out that no increases in federal tax rates had been made but that on the other hand a reduction of $15,000,000 annually had been made in Southern California's tax bill by the last revenue act. Here is a set of 23 figures from Collector Goodcell's report comparing tax receipts of August, 1923, with those of August, 1922, which show the trend of many lines of business:

Figure No. 3. Miscellaneous tax receipts of $1,315,870, an increase of 49 per cent.

Figure No. 4. Capital stock tax receipts of $214,868, an increase of 94 per cent. This is a tax of $1 on each $1000 of capital stock exceeding $5000.

Figure No. 5. Documentary stamp sales recorded an increase of 68 per cent. These stamps are used on deeds, conveyances, etc., and the increase indicates a proportionate advance in business activity.

Figure No. 10. Admission tax receipts from motion picture theatres and other places of amusement increased 33 per cent, indicating a 30,000,000 attendance during the month.

Figure No. 12. Manufacturers paid tax on 349,000 pounds of olemoargerine as against 99,000 for August, 1922, a tax gain of 253 per cent.

Figure No. 15. Dealers and consumers' tax receipts on paintings and sculpture sold increased 34 per cent.

Figure No. 16. Retail jewelers paid tax on sales of $1,022,560, an increase of 17 per cent.

Figure No. 17. Manufacturers of non-alcoholic beverages paid tax on 8,824,000 pint bottles as against 5,325,000 pint bottles for August, 1922, a tax gain of 26 per cent.

Figure No. 18. Carbonic acid gas used by beverage manufacturers showed an increase of 112 per cent.

Figure No. 19. Receipts from the special narcotic tax on physicians increased 131 per cent, indicating that the narcotic registration law is being strictly enforced.

Figure No. 23. To cap the climax receipts from the tax on playing cards increased 585 per cent.

NEW INVENTION A BIG SUCCESS

L. M. Heimer of Verdugo road, Glendale, has just patented an invention which should sell like hot cakes. He calls it the California Duplex Permanent Detector for crystal sets, and says radio fans find it is the best invention they have used on their instruments. It is operated with dry cell batteries and works like an audion. Mr. Heimer will place it on the market on a large scale.

FOUR BOYS ARE INJURED IN ACCIDENT

One Glendale boy was painfully injured and three others escaped death by a miracle yesterday when the car in which they were riding turned completely over in Eagle Rock, on Hill Drive, at the head of Satsuma. Cecil Pereiva, 15 years old, of 621 North Orange street, suffered a broken arm and severe bruises. The other boys were bruised and one of them fainted as he was being placed in the automobile which carried them to Glendale. None of them were believed to be more seriously injured than the Pereiva boy. The following boys were in the accident: Lester Newton, 417 North Harvard; Don Whittaker, 1187 Andrew avenue, and Craig Leach, of Glendale, also.

The boys accounted for the accident by reporting that a front tire blew out as they were driving east on Hill, throwing them left against the curbing. The car then turned over. The boys who were able to make the report stated that the steering gear seemed to buckle also. The car was wrecked, top, windshield, wheels, fenders, and seats being demolished.

INCOME TAX PAYERS, BEWARE; DRIVES NOW ON

Two intensive federal tax drives were inaugurated by the field forces under Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell yesterday.

Drive No. 1—Collection of the third installment of income taxes which will be due September 15. Forty thousand taxpayers are meeting their annual tax bill on the part payment plan. More than 190,000 met their taxes in full on March 15. It is not believed that any other internal revenue district in the United States holds such a record.

Collector Goodcell pointed out that when 190,000 out of a total of 230,000 income taxpayers cover their taxes in one payment when they have the option of quarterly installments, it certainly testifies to the sound financial condition of Southern California.

The full amount of tax owing automatically becomes due, and Collector Goodcell must, under the income tax laws, proceed to collect it with penalties added, if the third installment is not paid by September 15.

"I do not wish to make a record for imposing penalties," said Collector Goodcell. "I am urging the taxpayers to meet this third installment promptly and avoid penalties. I want them to cooperate with me in my effort to hold the Los Angeles district in its place as the banner internal revenue unit in the United States."

Drive No. 2—Is directed against taxpayers who neglected to include in income returns for 1920, 1921 and 1922, profit realized from the sale of real estate. Collector Goodcell believes that the failure of many taxpayers to include real estate profit in their returns was due to an erroneous interpretation of the revenue laws. He suggests that taxpayers who failed to report realty profits file an amended return. It will not be the policy of the revenue bureau to assert heavy penalties when the disclosure is voluntarily made by the taxpayer.

A check of the real estate transfers of the entire district has been made and these are now being checked against income returns filed for 1920, 1921 and 1922. Where the taxpayer does not voluntarily disclose items of profit that were omitted, full penalties must be asserted under the revenue laws. Prompt and voluntary action by taxpayers who have not declared their real estate profits will save them thousands of dollars in penalties, revenue officials declared.

TOM MIX, AND OF COURSE TONY, AT THE GLENDALE

Here's great news for the boys and all grown-ups as well who love horses. Tom Mix and Tony begin a three-days' showing at the Glendale Theater today. These two favorites, and it's hard to tell which one shows more human sagacity, appear in a screen version of Zane Grey's best story, "The Lone Star Ranger." The Texan rangers are famous in song and story for their many heroic deeds in combating Mexican and American outlaws in the grimly expressed purpose of making the plains safe for travels and the big cattle ranches safe for their owners. Tom Mix is at his best and Tony shows human intelligence in this great play. We are not going to miss it, are we, boys?

A captain and his chief engineer, tired of endlessly debating which the ship could be more easily dispensed with, decided to change places for a day. The chief ascended to the bridge and the skipper dived into the engine-room.

After a couple of hours the captain appeared on deck covered with oil and soot.

"Chief!" he called. "You'll have to come down here at once. I can't make her go."

"Of course you can't," said the chief. "She's ashore."

Events of Interest to Glendale and Its People

W. W. Hunt is returning today from a week's vacation at Catalina.

P. J. Priaulx of 128 West Park avenue left Monday morning on a week's business trip to Fresno.

Mr. and Mrs. Colin Harris and daughter Joan of 344 Burchett street returned Monday evening from an enjoyable stay at Laguna Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer B. Miller of 434 Burchett street returned yesterday after a few days' stay at San Diego.

J. E. Rockhold of 330 Burchett street, spent Monday in San Diego, in order to view the eclipse, returning yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Gray of 1505 South Glendale avenue will leave Thursday night for Kansas City, Mo., on a month's vacation trip. They will visit relatives and friends in that city.

Donell Irving Widmark is the name of the nine-pound baby boy born on Sept. 7, 1923, to Mrs. Glenn Widmark of Los Angeles, who has been making her home with Mrs. M. Morehouse of 1000 East Lomita avenue.

Mrs. J. E. Rockhold, her daughter Leone, and her father, J. C. Gardsley of 330 Burchett street, have returned recently from an extended tour through the western and northwestern states. They stopped at many points of interest, namely Mt. Raineer and Mt. Hood, and all of the large cities on their route.

Harley G. Preston of the firm of Finlay & Preston, and his wife, are enjoying a week's motor trip to San Francisco. Their little daughter Virginia is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Miller, 900B South Glendale avenue.

Mrs. Edith Malone, who was the house guest during the summer of Mrs. F. S. Magill of 500 Patterson avenue, left recently for her home in New Jersey. Mrs. Malone enjoyed her stay in Glendale and was favorably impressed by this city.

W. E. Hewitt has returned from the north where he was called by the illness of his father, who has been confined to his bed for some time and of whose recovery little hope is entertained. When Mr. Hewitt left him his condition was about the same it has been for several weeks.

The regular monthly business and social meeting of the Lydia Bible class of the First Presbyterian church will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The members will sew on quilts. The meeting will be held in the Sunday school room of the church, corner of East Broadway and Cedar streets.

Glendale friends of Mr. and Mrs. V. I. Wagoner of North Isabel street, who for the past four or five months have been in Japan, where Mr. Wagoner was sent in the interests of a truck company, have been much concerned over their safety in the recent earthquake and tidal wave disaster. According to a recent Associated Press dispatch from American Consul Dickover at Kobe, Japan, the names of V. I. Wagoner and wife are listed among the Americans safe in Japan.

Mrs. J. N. McGillis of 1003 East Lomita is returning to Glendale, after a few days' stay with friends in Catalina.

George A. Gallagher of 505 North Jackson street has returned from spending a few days at La Jolla, viewing the eclipse while there.

Dr. and Mrs. O. J. Furst of Los Angeles returned home Tuesday after spending ten days with their daughter, Mrs. Robert T. Lyans, of 511 North Jackson street.

Mrs. D. W. McQueen of 140 South Jackson street is entertaining as her house guest, her sister, Mrs. E. F. Hooper of Exter, Calif. Mrs. Hooper intends to leave for her home, sometime next week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Barton and family of 801 East Elk avenue spent the week-end at Glenn ranch. They had planned on a longer stay but returned to Glendale on account of the warm weather.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Danford of 308 East Harvard street have had the pleasure of entertaining as their guests for several days Mr. Danford's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Danford, of Pana, Ill.

ISLANDERS OF THE SOUTH SEAS RETURNING HOME

Mr. and Mrs. T. Tchaamatai, who for several years have been residing in California and have been making their home in Glendale for some time, are leaving today for Papara, Taharun, Tahiti, Oceanie, in the South Sea Islands. Mr. Tchaamatai's father is one of the largest land owners in the islands and he is going back to assist him there on his estate.

JOHN COTTON'S ETCHINGS HANG IN L. A. HOTEL

John Cotton, Glendale artist, is to have the distinction of having 200 of his etchings hung in the new Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles. Mr. Cotton has been working all summer getting the eachings ready. They have been completed and were sent to New York City to be framed. About 70 of Mr. Cotton's etchings have also been hung in the New York Biltmore hotel.

A woman had engaged a manservant who was new to his job, and among other things she had instructed him to always bring anything into the drawing-room on a salver.

A visitor called one day with a large and ferocious-looking dog, which was left outside. When the visitor was about to go, however, his hostess wished to see the dog, so she rang the bell and told the man to bring it in.

Some minutes elapsed, but he did not appear. Suddenly the sound of angry growls, snarls and barks was heard and the man entered carrying the salver, but with a look of distress on his face.

"Pardon me, madam," he said, with a deferential cough, "but I could not indooce the hanimal to sit on the salver. 'E knocked me down three times and bit my leg somethin' cruel. If the gentleman wants 'im, 'e's still outside."

POLICE COURT NEWS IN BRIEF

H. B. Seaton, who is to have his hearing here Friday, at 11 o'clock, was released when Mr. Howe guaranteed his appearance. His bail was set at $50 cash or $100 property bond.

Catherine Brunner, 610 North Louise, reports that a red scooter wagon has been stolen from in front of her home.

Frank Coffey, arrested as a "sleeper," is being held as he is unable to furnish his bail.

Constino Pagliso, held on suspicion, was released at 10:50 yesterday.

Arthur Dunn, charged with reckless driving, was turned over to the juvenile court by Judge Lowe.

James Baldwin, accused of auto theft, was taken to the county jail at 11 o'clock by Officers Blake and Royle.

Douglas Ruder and Alza Ruder were fined $25 each for disturbing the peace.

Mr. Nish, of the Nish taxi service, reports that his stand has been broken into several times recently.

WHY IS IT THAT SUCCESS OFTEN ENDS HAPPINESS?

Drab days of struggle, when the wife fought off grim adversity shoulder to shoulder with her husband. Then prosperity, affluence, luxury — and dissatisfaction. Just when the home is made secure, the wider vistas of the social world call disintegrating influence beckon—the divorce court looms.

Such is the story of countless thousands who once were happy and a few hundreds who mended the rift and are happier than ever for the lessons taught them.

An absorbing photoplay with a real mission has just reached the screen. It comes as if in answer to the perplexities of married folk who face a schism in their relations. Its title is the all-inclusive one of "Divorce," and it strikes at the very root of the evil. See how Jane Parker, as played by Jane Novak, met the crisis of her married life at the Gateway theater.

Seen in support of Miss Novak in this production, which has been directed by the capable Chester Bennett, are John Bowers, James Corrigan, Edythe Chapman, Margaret Livingston, Freeman Wood, George Fisher and Master Philippe DeLacy. Andrew Bennison is the author, and the play bears the imprimature of F. B. O.

BONNER GORDON COMES TO JOIN FATHER HERE

Bonner J. Gordon has arrived from San Francisco and will be associated with his father, Eugene Gordon in his store at 119 North Brand. Mr. Gordon is a very capable young business man and will take an active part in the management of this rapidly growing business.

Eugene Gordon carries one of the best selected stocks of ladies' furnishings, dresses, dry goods, etc., to be found in this section and has built up a big business.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

Dr. Louis Webber of Los Angeles is adding another store room to his building on Los Angeles and Montrose avenues. The addition is on Los Angeles avenue, adjoining the Bowlus grocery. Dr. Webber's building is constructed of rock and stucco and comprises four store rooms and has the distinction of being the first substantial and up to date store building to be erected in La Crescenta.

C. Starbuck of East Hermosa avenue, started a fire on his premises Monday by burning a lot of tar paper, incidentally calling out the local fire warden, C. Jennings Young and creating considerable excitement. The fire was extinguished without much damage, but Mr. Starbuck was reported and no doubt will be fined, as he failed to take out a permit.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Bissell and daughter, Mollie Bissell, returned last Saturday from an extended motor trip through Northern California and Oregon.

Dorsey Phillips of Toledo, Ohio, is the guest of Robert Kelso of Los Angeles and Mayfield avenues.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cox of South Los Angeles avenue returned yesterday from Stockton, Calif., where they visited relatives. Their nephew, Neal Darby, accompanied them on their return and will be their guest for the winter.

Mrs. Russell B. Crawall of San Jose, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Hoppe of 171 East Mayfield.

Mrs. Anna K. Burkey and son, Ted Burkey, returned Saturday from Glendale, where they spent the past month.

Miss Amy McMurtry of East Mayfield avenue, returned today from Sacramento, Calif. Miss McMurty was accompanied home by her brother, D. J. McMurtry and family of Ojai.

LEGION NEWS

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of Justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.—Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion.

GEORGE B. KARR TO BE SPEAKER

George B. Karr is to be speaker of the evening at the regular meeting of Glendale post, No. 127, American Legion, on Friday night at the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Twelve superdreadnaughts, one armored cruiser, thirty-nine destroyers and smaller craft will compose the great armada which is to be present in San Francisco during the American Legion convention, October 15 to 19. The presence of the fleet is expected to add much interest to the program for the visiting legionnaires. Admiral R. E. Coontz, commander-in-chief of the fleet, is personally supervising many of the arrangements, in addition to that of the great naval review.

The fleet's contribution to the legion show will not be confined to one day's participation. Each night, the ships will be illuminated; the 21,100 officers and men will participate in one of the great parades, and the sailors will contribute to an athletic field day on the water that will equal anything on land. Boxing, wrestling, push ball, water polo, baseball and other sports, in addition to boat and swimming races, will afford entertainment well worth seeing.

Admiral Coontz will receive the legion officials and guests at a dress reception on his flagship, the Seattle, during the convention.

"Fleet night," reserved by the "gobs" on Wednesday of the convention week, should afford entertainment for every visitor. Features planned for that evening will be some of the most remarkable of the entire convention, and the whole sea-going gang will be turned loose in the convention city for a night of fun.

It is expected that vessels or naval units from several foreign countries will be present during the convention to participate in the big naval review, making the spectacle in San Francisco bay one of the most unusual ever seen on the west coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—One of the interesting features of the recent American Legion convention held in Eureka was the passing of a resolution giving the Legion support to the Boy Scout movement. The resolution was introduced to the delegates by Louis E. Kahn, Scout executive and Legion delegate from Napa. Under this resolution the American Legion of California pledges its full support to the Boy Scouts throughout every part of this state.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, the American Legion, Department of California, at its last annual convention, embodied in Resolution No. 14 its position on the Boy Scout movement, and

"Whereas, the American Legion at its recent convention reaffirms this position, now, therefore,

"Be it resolved, that the action directed in Resolution No. 14 of the fourth convention be fully and actively enforced by all posts of the American Legion of this department.

"Resolution No. 14:

"Whereas, the American Legion, Department of California, realizes that the Boy Scouts of America are performing a commendable service in inculcation in the youth of our nation the ideals of American citizenship, and

"Whereas, it is fitting and desirable that the American Legion give its support and cooperation to the work being done by this organization; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, that a permanent committee be appointed by the department commander to further the work of the Boy Scouts of America in the Department of California, and be it therefore

"Further resolved, that it is the sense of this convention that every post in the department put forth their best efforts to encourage and assist the activities of the Boy Scouts."

EDUCATION BOARD CONSIDERS MUCH AT SESSION

A policy with regard to the admission of students from outside districts to Glendale's elementary schools was adopted at Tuesday night's meeting of the board of education, viz., their admission if the district from which they come is willing to pay the difference between the actual cost per pupil and the amount allowed by state and county for each child's attendance. Only fourteen such applications have been received to date, all from Los Angeles and La Crescenta. Superintendent White stated that the cost last year was $75.98 per pupil and the receipts from state and county approximated $60.

A very interesting matter on which the board took action was the authorization given Superintendent White to close with the offer of a certain photographic firm to make individual pictures of all the children in the Glendale schools and to make for the board, free of charge, an enrollment card for each child, bearing the data desired by the board and the photograph, thus giving the board complete identification of the student. The advantage from the viewpoint of the child and photographic firm is that five prints of these individual pictures, which are exceptionally good, can be obtained for 25 cents, or the individual pictures of an entire room for 50 cents.

Superintendent White reported that half-day sessions would be maintained after school opens on the 17th as follows: In two rooms of the Acacia Avenue school under four teachers; ditto at Broadway; in one room at Central Avenue under two teachers; ditto at Colorado; in two rooms at Doran under four teachers; ditto at Magnolia and Pacific. He also stated that the length of time in which it will be necessary to maintain such half-day sessions will vary from two to six weeks, according to architects' estimates.

Superintendent White and Business Manager Black were authorized to employ two additional office assistants.

The report of the teachers' committee was o. k.d, confirming the appointment of Miss Mildred Hughey of 409 West Lomita; Miss B. Ida Gunderson of 331 North Isabel; Miss Cymbel Taylor of 1100 East Windsor. The board also gave the teachers' committee authority to act in case it should be necessary to employ additional teachers before the board meets again.

Business Manager Black reported that the cost of moving the classroom bungalow from Broadway to Wilson Avenue school will be $190. He was given authority to clear school grounds at Glendale Avenue and to remove such trees as obstruct the playgrounds.

Architect Priest reported a trade shortage in blackboards and he was asked to confer with Messrs. Black and White who were instructed to investigate the merits of slate blackboards.

The board voted to accept the school clock bid of E. E. Dail of $10.20.

CONGREGATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC SEPT. 25

Tuesday, September 25, will be picnic day for the Congregational church members and their friends. They will gather at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Arbogast, on Highland avenue, at 6:30 in the evening. Each will bring a real old-fashioned basket dinner with all the good things that go to dress up a picnic dinner. The wide lawn and spacious grounds of the Arbogast home will be all strung with electric lights, and the picnic dinner will be spread out under the trees.

PENDROY FASHION SHOW ATTRACTS HUNDREDS

MRS. E. C. PENDROY
Manager of Fashion Show

Beautiful window displays arranged by E. E. Lowry of the Pendroy store, served as alluring samples of the lovely creations to be seen at the Fashion Show, staged on the second floor in the women's department Tuesday afternoon, which was attended by some 250 interested women patrons of the store. So great was the enthusiasm of applauding spectators that it will be repeated today with fresh costumes and additional models.

It included afternoon gowns of tweed and other wool weaves and chiffons, evening gowns, millinery and coats of luxurious materials and the latest Parisian models.

So beautiful and so full was the display by charming models who have been seen here before, that more than one woman breathed a sigh of satisfaction over her ability to inform herself in her own home town on modes and materials which New York has approved. Glendale has certainly made strides in providing metropolitan privileges.

It was evident that the longer skirt has come to stay, and that a modification of the one-piece gown that we use to call "the princess" is to be exceedingly popular. It descends straight from the shoulders with no fitting at the waist, but is snug at the hips, the skirt lapped across the front and apparently fastened by a clasp, usually a metal one, at the left side. Sometimes a medalion of embroidery takes the place of the clasp. Sometimes there are panels at one side or the other, but the general loose-at-the-waist effect is the same, and very becoming to stout women.

Another fundamental model is girlish in its simplicity. The blouse-like upper part with round neck and short sleeves attaches to the skirt below the waist line and the fullness is developed at the side in gathers and cascades. A strip of embroidery suggests a belt a trifle below the waist line. Adult models have the girdle four or five inches below the waist line, the young models higher up.

With many of the gowns were shown very fetching, close-fitting, small hats, garnished with beaded and silk embroidery evidencing much hand work. There were also fur scarfs of white, blue and brown fox.

Navy blue, soft browns, and grays were colors most displayed, and all, almost without exception, were richly embellished with bead embroidery, this being true of the gowns of tweed and other of the heavier materials as well as the crepe and chiffon party confections.

One very sweet, girlish gown was of dark blue cloth, with bell-shaped or semi-circular skirt, in which the fullness fell at the sides. Short sleeves were in the semi-fitted blouse attached to the skirt with short band of beaded embroidery suggesting a low waist. With it was worn a velvet turban of Chinese blue, trimmed with silver braid and tassel.

Another handsome gown of the princess type was of a soft brown Charmeuse cloth, V-shaped neck with reveres faced with red, long in the skirt and beautifully trimmed with beaded embroidery in colors and braid.

In still another gown of similar cut the V-shaped neck was filled in with yellow and the long, close sleeves were slashed at the wrist to reveal the yellow.

In a very handsome beaded evening gown of orchid color, the sheath skirt crossed to the left side and was carried up to the shoulder to fall from it in a shawl-like drapery.

A lovely gray chiffon was heavily embroidered with steel beads of the same color, a twisted girdle below the waist line, loose side panels, on either side, and sleeves slashed down the length of the arm.

An evening gown that attracted much attention was an imported French model in the new brick colored satin, cross-barred with stitching to look like quilting, skirt fullness at the side, with looped sash to take the place of clasp, sleeveless, trimmed with very handsome medallions of bead embroidery in green, bronze, tan, brick and French blue.

An exquisite French blue crepe set off with beaded embroidery in rose design in ashes of roses color and twisted girdle of the two shades, sleeveless and round neck, was worn with a chaplet of roses and leaves on the head. It was a picture and was sold before the model took it off.

These and dozens of others that cannot be described here, will be shown this afternoon with a wonderful assortment of wraps and hats. Women who aspire to be well dressed should not miss seeing them.

EASTERN STARS HAVE PLANNED A BUSY SEASON

According to the program of events scheduled, the fall season will be a busy one and full of interest for the members of Glen Eyrie chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. A continuation of the substantial rate of increase in membership is anticipated, keeping pace with the growth of Glendale. The secretary's report of June 1, 1923, showed a membership of 351.

The regular meetings of the Eastern Star chapter are held the second and fourth Fridays at 7:30 p. m. at Masonic temple, 232 South Brand boulevard. Officers of the chapter include: Mildred Lyon, worthy matron; Harry Leroy Redd, worthy patron; Jennie A. Phillips, associate matron; Nellie Holbrook, secretary; Alice Carvel, treasurer; Mae Warrick, conductress; Sadie McPherson, associate conductress; Margaret Tennant, chaplain; Martha Dibbern, marshal; Frances Rondo, organist; Irene Whittaker, Adah; Valencia aWtson, Ruth; Ella Hickman, Esther; Bertha Wyvell, Martha; Dollie Kase, Electra; Annie Clark, warder; Matthew Dewar, sentinel.

The program of meetings, etc., for the remainder of the year includes the following:

September 14—Regular meeting, 7:30 p. m. Refreshments. New members taken in since June to be special guests.

September 19—Social club at Masonic temple. Luncheon reservations to be made with Mrs. Kretchmer.

September 22 — Reception to worthy matrons and worthy patrons of 1923, 8 p. m.

September 28—Conferring degrees, 7:30 p. m.

October 12—Regular meeting, 7:30 p. m. Visitors' night. Refreshments.

October 17—Social club at Masonic temple. Mrs. Sadie McPherson in charge of luncheon reservations.

October 26—Regular meeting, 7:30 p. m. Brothers' night. Refreshments.

November 9—Regular meeting, 7:30 p. m. Election of officers and report of grand chapter.

November 21—Social club at Masonic temple. Mrs. Holbrook in charge of luncheon reservations.

November 23—Conferring of degrees, 7:30 p. m.

December 14—Regular meeting. Installation date to be announced later.

December 20—Social club. Mrs. Mayme Pollock in charge of reservations.

December 28—Regular meeting, 7:30 p. m.

With an efficient corps of officers directing the work of the chapter, the past year has been a very succesful one.

In addition to the ritualistic work and the regular chapter meetings there have been a number of very entertaining card parties, dances, etc., given. Glen Eyrie Social club meets the third Wednesday of each month at Masonic temple for business and a social meeting, with luncheon served at noon. Mrs. James Wyvell is president of the club.

CHILDREN'S PLEA SAVES 'WAFARER' SHEEP'S LIVES

By HANNAH L. HUKILL, M.D.

Recently when Rev. James E. Crowther, the inspired author of "The Wayfarer," spoke in the auditorium of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, he told a very interesting story of the sheep used when that great pageant was given in Seattle last year. There are, perhaps, fifteen or twenty sheep used in the second episode and they are attended by several shepherds. Dr. Crowther said the psychology of those sheep was something wonderful, that they did their parts so well and seemed to know what they were to do. As the play continued the people began to feel a very deep regard for those particular sheep. By the time of the last performance, when they realized they would see them no more, and that doubtless these loving animals would meet the fate of other sheep in slaughter houses, a great cry arose from the city that those sheep must not be butchered. And the most beautiful part of it all was that the loudest cry came from the children of Seattle. They wrote letters to the papers, appealing to the larger heart of the city and created a great uproar in behalf of the sheep. The rancher who had loaned the sheep to "The Wayfarer" and brought them in from his ranch, had a little son who, with the other children, became interested. When his appeal was added to that of the other children, the tender side of the father was touched and he donated the whole flock to the city. And now those animals look out through the fence of the city park with calm assurance in their eyes.

A bronze tablet reads: "These are 'The Wayfarer' sheep, presented by Master——— (giving the child's name) to the children of Seattle."

DR. P. S. KELLOGGS HOME FROM WEEK END AT SAN DIEGO

Dr. and Mrs. P. S. Kellogg, of 614 North Louise street, have returned from a week-end motor trip to San Diego, where they witnessed the eclipse. They witnessed the phenomena from the hills back of the city. Dr. Kellogg states that until the actual moment of totality the eclipse was undoubtedly a disappointment, particularly to the scientists. At totality it was possible to view the eclipse with the naked eye, the slight mist in the air acting the same as a smoked glass on a bright day. He states that the view was perfectly wonderful at totality, with the fine corona and a beautiful circular rainbow around the sun and moon. For about two minutes it was so dark that it was impossible to recognize a person 50 feet away.

Dr. Kellogg comments on the terrific jam on the road to and from San Diego Sunday, Monday and Monday night. He states that it was reported that there were about 80 accidents between Los Angeles and San Diego on Sunday and 60 on Monday. For twenty miles the machines were lined solid on the road. Dr. Kellogg saw fifteen wrecks during his trip, most of them caused by people trying to crowd in or going against the traffic. At one time the long line of traffic traveled only two miles in an hour. During a period of three hours Dr. Kellogg states that he went only about 20 miles.

DR. ROY V. HOGUE FAMILY HOME FROM BIG BEAR

Roy V. Hogue and family have closed their cabin at Big Bear and returned to Glendale to stay until October when they will return to it for a few days in company with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Worley who will be their guests.

The doctor reports that because the early part of the season was cold patronage of camps was light and there was much discouragement, but Labor Day there was a rush which filled every cabin around the lake and compelled many visitors to sleep on the ground.

A party of about twenty Glendalians who camped not far from the Hogue cottage brought back the champion fish of the season, a 10-pound trout, which was made the basis of a fish bake at Brookside Park.

MISS WOLTER TO OPEN PIANO STUDIO HERE

Miss Clara Wolter, who achieved much success as a teacher of artistic piano playing at Seattle, where she taught for sixteen years, and also at Missoula, Mont., where she was in charge of the advanced department of piano at the state university, is planning to open her studio in Glendale at 312 North Orange street beginning with Monday, September 17.

Miss Wolter has studied piano under such famous masters as C. H. Sippell, E. B. Fleck and Leopold Godowsky. She has appeared with distinction on numerous occasions as piano soloist. Miss Wolter is a member of the Glendale Music club and is planning to take an active part in the musical life of the city.

MEETING POSTPONED; INCLEMENT WEATHER

The meeting of the West Glendale Improvement association, scheduled to take place Tuesday night, was postponed on account of the inclement weather.

MUSIC CLUB ADDS A DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

The department of education will be added to the other sections of the Glendale Music Club, according to a vote taken at the meeting of the executive committee of this organization held Tuesday night at the home of the president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones. Mrs. Dora Gibson is to be chairman of the department of education and will continue her work in the scholarship loan fund, which comes under that department. Mrs. Charles A. Parker will be vice-chairman and will have the opera and oratorio in line with the music appreciation work. Other committees in that department will be appointed soon.

The establishment of the department of education is in accordance with the work of the California Federation of Music Clubs. It is planned that this new branch of the local music organization will hold regular meetings once a month for each of the activities. Detailed announcement will be made later regarding same.

Preliminary plans were discussed for the opening concert of the fall season, which will be held on October 12 at the Tuesday Afternoon Club auditorium. Mrs. S. B. Morse is to be chairman of the door committee for the year. Ushers will be announced soon.

Seats have already been reserved back to the 23rd row in the auditorium. Those wishing to become members of this popular organization should do so immediately, as the seats for the season are being reserved in the order in which the dues are paid.

The remainder of the meeting was spent in discussing plans for the club year book.

SING GLENDALE'S PRAISES ON WAY TO OLD MEXICO

Hymns of praise for Glendale are not only being sung by Glendale's singing mayor, S. Robinson, but by Herman Nelson, Peter Ferry and Dr. Jessie Russell, who are also members of the Glendale chamber of commerce with the Los Angeles chamber of commerce Mexican recognition excursion to Mexico. They are proving to be a quartet of real boosters.

"The Morning Tortilla," issued en route by the publication department of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce says "The 'singing mayor' of Glendale is some entertainer, even if he is over ambitious in wanting to annex Los Angeles."

CAMP FIRE GIRLS HOME

The Tatapochon Camp Fire Girls of the First Congregational church have returned from a delightful camping trip. They left Glendale in automobiles for the Sea View ranch in Santa Monica canyon Tuesday and returned Saturday afternoon. The time was spent in hiking, swimming and in playing games. Friday evening the beautiful "council fire" of the camp fire was held.

Those present were Josephine Franklin, Anna Marojrie Phillips, Viola Van Pelt, Marjorie Brown, Rose Watrous, Nyla Chapman, Margaret Haight, Jean Welsh and the guardjan of the Fire, Mrs. Roy Watrous.

WE WOMEN

By BETTY BRAINERD

SHE FACED THE MUSIC

A big gangling man of foreboding aspect, who falls on the ice is a more amusing sight than a little man who is unable to control his skates. The bigger a man is the harder he falls.

Similarly a judge is a dignified and impressive figure in his black robe. In the dress of a nurse girl or governess or chaperone he ceases to be a symbol and impressive. He becomes amusing and yet the humor has a tragic significance. It is a throw-back to the days of intolerance when even the courts believed in witchcraft and offenders were burned at the stake.

Some girls, I imagine, would prefer to be burned at the stake than submit to a ruling which would prevent them from using face powder and as much rouge as they felt necessary.

The supreme court of the state of Arkansas has ruled that the school board of the little town of Knoble was well within its rights in prohibiting the girls in the high school there from using cosmetics of any kind. The court even went so far as to say that the ban was just and reasonable and should be enforced. Of the five judges who considered the case only one took the view that the girl's nose was her own property and that she could powder it as much as she wanted to. The others felt that the school board had a perfect right to act as custodians of the girls' morals and complexions.

Of course, the question of morals is not involved. It is something more important than that. It is a question of the preservation of the dignity and integrity of our courts. It seems to me that such problems as the use of cosmetics should be decided on the stages of theatres given entirely to comedy.

Of the girls affected by the ruling of the school board one Pearl Pugisey acted like a little thoroughbred. She insisted that the board had no right to tell whether or not she could powder her nose or use a lipstick, and because she continued to do as she saw fit with her face she was expelled.

Then she took her face and powder and lipstick to court and her parents went with her. A week after the case was instituted the girl's father died. On his deathbed he asked his wife and daughter to fight the case to the bitter end and to go to the highest court in the land if necessary.

The high school in the little town of Knoble was discontinued. The rules affecting the use of cosmetics "are no longer necessary." But the history of the case, it seems to me, remains an extremely important chapter in the history of our judiciary.

"Raisins o' the Sun"

from the Pacific-Southwest

SINCE the beginnings of civilization the raisin has been famed as a delectable and nourishing food. Once only a seasonal delicacy, it is now used everywhere the year round.

The raisin industry has made rapid strides in the Pacific-Southwest. Sixty per cent of the world's supply is now produced here. In 1912, the cooperative organization of the growers was formed and handled 24,512 tons, bringing $1,500,000.00. Last year the Sun Maid Raisin Growers, composed of 14,000 vineyardists—90% of all in the United States—handled 180,000 tons, a crop valued at $37,980,000.00.

Through its inter-community system, this Bank has been able to materially assist the financing and recent re-financing of the raisin growers, and is rendering to the entire Pacific-Southwest a type of service quite impossible were its member banks operating individually.

Truths in Epigram

LEGAL NICETY AMONG FRIENDS

The city council of Los Angeles made an appropriation for the benefit of Japan. Ethically there could have been no objection. As a matter of law, an official objected and the plan was held up, probably to be defeated in the end.

When San Francisco went down in flames, and sympathy throughout the country was aroused, the city council of Philadelphia made an appropriation of $10,000 for the benefit of the stricken city. There was not the slightest warrant in law for such course. Everybody knew this, and nobody cared. The public was warm in its approval of the act.

At that time contributions to San Francisco poured in from the Japanese. The offerings were voluntary. There had been no hint that help was desired from points outside the United States. The liberality of the Orientals was deeply appreciated. It laid a foundation for a new respect for the people over there. It surely created an obligation that calls now for reciprocal favors.

Technicalities often are put forward in favor of an offender. They are, in such circumstance, generally denounced. Nevertheless they are permitted to stand, to the manifest thwarting of justice. In this instance the technicality is advanced for the overthrowing of a kindly purpose. If insisted upon it is likely to be effective.

It seems strange that from the administration of the law there should be so complete an absence of the equation of human sympathy, when sympathy is deserved.

RENEWAL OF YOUTH

A resident of London who had been pointed to as an example of successful gland operation, recently had the mischance to fall dead. The glands used in his case had been derived from a monkey. The period of rejuvenation which he had experienced had lasted for two years.

Elderly persons do drop dead. The possibility that demise was not due to the glands has to be considered. Nevertheless the sudden ending of the artificial youthfulness by a process that belongs to senile decay, will have a tendency to make the aged doubtful of ability to cast off the burden of years, and begin life over again with zest restored.

There is something said in ancient writ as to the folly of putting new wine into old bottles. The individual who has lived three score and ten years is old. He may seek to dissemble the truth, and perhaps with apparent success. Of course some at seventy are older than others, measured by the survival of strength and the integrity of tissue. Nevertheless the body that has served the normal season of aggressive activity, is destined to cease its functioning. The climax may be delayed, but the attempt to delay it by implanting the vigor of the monkey or the goat, must be regarded as dangerous, and generally, as futile.

Always there are plenty of men who have theories as to attaining longevity. The trouble with these theories is that they do not work. Their proponents are likely to pass away in the period that ought to be the prime of life. The centenarian usually has some reason to give for his survival, but the reason of one contradicts the reason of another. All of them omit mention of the equipment of a sound constitution, which, with the addition of good luck, accounts for the rounding out of a hundred years of life.

EARTHQUAKES AND WAR

The damage wrought by an earthquake such as has just smitten Japan is stupendous and appalling. Men shrink in horror from contemplation of the awful havoc. They are stirred to their deeps by pity for the sufferers. Even the spectacle of so much material destruction brings to them an acute sense of its frightfulness. The results are appalling partly because so sudden. No man would, had he the power, cause any nation to be crushed in this manner. Yet men institute war, and according to their puny strength, seek to produce the effect of earthquake.

In the world war a score of millions perished. Some of these were the best and bravest representatives of the nations engaged. Some were women and children. There were valiant nurses, dying as they sought to give service. There were faithful doctors, who had entered the zone of death on missions of mercy. There were countless thousands made homeless. Fields and farms, factories and mines were utterly ruined. It was as though a horrid monster had been loosed to kill and maim and exterminate; and it was so.

Yet even now nations face each other muttering imprecations of hate and the threat of renewed conflict. With the memories of recent battlefields so fresh, with Japan's despair a present appeal for kindness and consideration, these nations seem to have learned nothing. Still are they savage, greedy, thirsty for blood, eager to tear down the visible evidences of prosperity and to cut off the chance of happiness.

A THRIVING INDUSTRY

According to estimates based on past records, more than $4,000,000 worth of automobiles will be stolen in Los Angeles this year. The business is proceeding now at the rate of $356,000 monthly. Probably there is no other city able to equal these figures. There is no other in which the use of automobiles is so general, or where climatic conditions permit this use throughout the seasons.

The vast loss is due of course in large measure to the carelessness of owners. They leave their machines unprotected by theftlocks for many hours at a stretch. Of these machines some of the cheaper types have keys so simple that they may be had of any locksmith. Any respectable looking individual may step into a machine and drive away without exciting notice, much less suspicion.

Probably the success of the thieves is due to a large and well conducted system. The men who do the actual stealing are the ones who run some risk. The concerns that receive, alter and sell the stolen vehicles are not in much danger. In seeking to check the evil, the authorities would be likely to accomplish more were they to ferret out the receivers. These are the parts of the combination that make operations on so large a scale possible. The single thief would be afraid to dispose of his booty to the chance purchaser, but he knows where he may take it and get a price.

In all likelihood the profits of the dealer are relatively enormous. The thief must take whatever the dealer sees fit to give, but the dealer himself does his part of the work fearlessly, knowing that the thief dare not betray him, and that the altered machine is not likely to be recognized or traced.

Perhaps since the Italians have bombarded a lot of babies at Corfu, Italy's honor is feeling better. It remains to be seen that the dictator of that country is big enough to dictate to the League of Nations, a body that still functions.

New York, ever anxious to excel, probably has the most reckless gunmen on earth. Pretty soon the denizen of the wild west will be afraid to visit the metropolis.

Lucy Page Gaston probably has not heard that one of the sons of the President is working on a tobacco farm. It is not believed that, had the information reached her, she could have suppressed an anguished yelp.

The big oil fire at the waterfront at San Pedro is believed to have been set by a lunatic who had been influenced by I. W. W. teachings. If he really had been influenced, he's a lunatic all right.

You can always tell what a woman throws at by what she misses.

As long as she has a friend left a woman never quarrels with herself.

A Clinic for Unruly Children

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Rush Medical college is to establish it—a clinic for unruly children between the ages of 3 and 13.

Dr. C. C. Grulle, head of the children's department of the school, will be in charge and he begins his new work with the theory that the trouble is not so much with the children themselves as with their homes.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

In brief, children are unruly and neurotic because they have inflamed egos, due to too much petting, too much indulgence and too little association with other children.

If Dr. Grulle will get that fact into the heads of the women who rear children he will do much to stop divorce, crime and various kinds of social misery.

A society composed largely of "mamma's darlings" must always be a society liable to sudden eruptions and rent by quarrels. Living with an exaggerated ego is about as pleasant and restful an occupation as living with a gouty bear.

"Small families are bad for children," declares Dr. Grulle.

Perhaps, yet many of us know small families presided over by sensible mothers who train their children for life instead of humoring them for their own amusement; when the children in a home that has exaggerated their ego become unruly the parents call for help. The only help possible is to change home conditions, which means changing the attitude of the parents or removing the child from their influence. Most social workers and all juvenile probation officers know this already; but so powerful is the traditional belief that a child's own mother—regardless of her mental, moral or spiritual condition, is the best possible person to train the child that the expert is helpless.

If Dr. Grulle and his experts will work on parents we may hope for results, but just how the new department proposes to make unwise mothers wise is a thing I'd like to have somebody explain.

After all, the best cure for nerves is somebody handy to tell you the truth, and mash your nose if you refuse to listen.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Kinney Fox doesn't talk very often or very much. But last night he told me that he owed his success—and Kinney is our First National bank—to a country doctor.

"He told me that any boy can succeed," said Kinney, "if he is determined to do so."

Kinney's folks came from the poor end of our country. Most of the fights, scandals and bankruptcies happened there. He never spoke of his parents, but I judge they were typical of the poor end of the country. The country doctor needed a boy to attend to his horses and picked Kinney. The boy used to sit about the office on winter nights, exhaling an odor of the stable as the old baseburner reddened. The doctor talked to him in lieu of another audience.

"But my folks are common as dirt," said Kinney one night, embodied by the old man's comradeship. "I ain't got a chance."

"If you'll try," said the doctor, "I'll back you."

The backing didn't amount to anything. The backer got his money's worth and more from the boy. But the trying did. Kinney fought his way through school, into business, and finally into the bank. He said success came easier for him because he wasn't hampered by friends.

"No one wanted to bother with a stable boy," he said. "If I had had more friends I would have risen more slowly."

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Jim Riley wrote a poem one time for little children and big.

The refrain of which was that the "goblins will git you ef you don't watch out."

JAMES W. FOLEY

Purely imaginative, of course.

For there are no goblins, in the sense that Jim wrote about.

* * *

But there is another menace to the safety of people developed in these later days.

That is the moron.

The moron is the man with the body of twenty-five or thirty or forty and the mind of nine or ten years.

* * *

There are many of them.

More than you think.

Many of them driving motor cars.

Great and powerful vehicles capable of swinging along the highway at forty or fifty or sixty miles an hour.

* * *

Killing and maiming their thousands.

The record of motor deaths and accidents in Los Angeles county in the past year is one that is shameful and inexcusable.

And these accidents in the most part have resulted from:

Drunkenness:

Imbecility.

Pure devilishness and recklessnes..

* * *

And in how many instances has any proper punishment been visited upon the person to whose drunkenness, imbecility or recklessness the accident was due?

We venture that not once in a score of instances has any sufficient degree of punishment been administered to be merely exemplary.

* * *

A few days in jail, a fine, a reprimand.

And onward goes the grand march of the juggernaut.

No holiday or Sunday without its horrifying list of deaths and maimings.

Until death on the highway is so frequent as not merely to arouse much attention.

* * *

In the city of Chicago in the eight months of this year, there were TWO HUNDRED AND SEVENTY MURDERS.

Do people need protection or do they not?

Do criminals need apprehension and punishment or do they not?

And there were FOUR HUNDRED AND EIGHTY persons killed by motor cars in the same time.

* * *

Were there any imbeciles driving?

Was there any reckless driving?

Were any drunken persons driving?

If not, how did these deaths occur?

Is it necessary that we shall have deaths by the thousands that people may drive along the streets or highways in motor cars?

* * *

If your baby was killed, what would be your feelings?

If your husband or wife or family was killed or maimed, how would you feel?

It makes a lot of difference who gets smashed up.

And the smasher deserves punishment.

* * *

And it is not necessary that his folly be carried to its natural end.

The driver who whizzes through crowded streets at a high rate of speed is a potential slaughterer of human beings.

* * *

No use to mince words about it.

No use to split hairs.

No use to rake up technicalities.

Homicide is homicide and manslaughter is manslaughter.

And we might as well look the facts squarely in the face and quit talking idly about rights and constitutions and laws and jurisdictions and venues and all that.

Let us rid the streets of the drunks, morons, imbeciles and devil-may-cares.

Songs of the Poets

Mother-Song—By Alfred Austin

White little hands!
Pink little feet!
Dimpled all over,
Sweet, sweet, sweet!
What dost thou wail for?
The unknown? the unseen?
The ills that are coming,
The joys that have been?

Cling to me closer,
Closer and closer,
Till the pain that is purer
Hath banished the grosser.

Drain, drain at the stream, love
Thy hunger is freeing,
That was born in a dream, love,
Along with thy being!

Little fingers that feel
For their home on my breast,
Little lips that appeal
For their nurture, their rest!
Why, why dost thou weep, dear?
Nay, stifle thy cries,
Till the dew of thy sleep, dear,
Lies soft on thy eyes.

A PENNILESS EMPEROR

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IT IS a terrible thing to have no money.

It is commonly supposed that poverty is hell and that plenty is heaven, and most people will agree with this supposition.

But the usual error is found in the wrong idea of plenty.

A wholesome feeling of plenty can be drowned by abundance as well as dried up by lack.

Two young newlyweds can have a perfectly gorgeous time buying a frying pan or a new tablecloth. But to make this operation a real adventure there must first be a deal of argument about whether they can afford it, a serious casting up of accounts, and an earnest discussion as to whether, taking one consideration with another, it is better to invest in a frying pan and a tablecloth or to get new curtains and spoons. Without this prelude the game is not much fun.

If the young couple are worth some ten million dollars there is no fun in it at all. George is not interested; he is too busy selecting a cigarette. So Maudie simply presses the button and when the four butlers appear she indicates her desire to Alphonse, and the next day a van backs up to the door with two bales of tablecloths, a carload of curtains, seventeen gross of spoons and every frying pan in the hardware store.

What we really need is neither poverty nor riches, but a little of both. Of course, if you have either one of these you think the other would be delightful.

An amusing illustration of this is found in a recent book called "Memories of the Russian Court," by Anna Viroubova, the intimate friend of the late Emperor and Empress of Russia. She relates that in the matter of selecting gifts for guests, for relatives, or at holidays for the suite, the Emperor simply selected from the rich assortment sent to the palace the objects which best pleased him. The Emperor, all his life, had had everything he wanted without ever paying a single ruble for anything. He never had any money, never needed any money.

"I can recall," her narrative continues, "but one solitary instance in which the Tsar of all the Russias ever even felt the need of touching a kopek of his illimitable riches. It was in 1911, when their Majesties began to attend services at the Feodorovsky Cathedral at Tsarkoe Selo. In this church it was the custom to pass through the congregations alms-basins into which everyone, of course, dropped a contribution, large or small. The Emperor alone was entirely penniless, and embarrassed by his unique situation he made a representation to the proper authorities, after which at exact monthly intervals he was furnished with four gold pieces for the alms-basin of the Feodorovsky Cathedral. If he happened to attend an extra service he had to borrow his contribution from the Empress."

Still and all, as Ring Lardner would say, having had a whole lot of experience with Too Little I wouldn't mind trying to worry along with Too Much for a spell.

(Copyright, 1923, by Dr. Frank Crane)

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

A UNIVERSAL PLIGHT

[Brooklyn Standard Union]

The American wheat farmer, with a surplus of grain on his hands and confronted by a declining market, lends a willing ear to so-called progressives and semi-socialists, who tell him the government ought to build huge warehouses, where the farmer could store his crops, obtain at a nominal interest a loan on that collateral and hold it there until the market rises again.

The American farmer is not alone in his predicament. Southern cotton growers voiced the same demand until the boll weevil cut down production. Brazilian coffee planters and Cuban sugar planters sang the same song. The Brazilian government has put its valorization scheme into effect without benefiting the planters much, though it put a heavy burden upon all taxpayers in Brazil.

Now a similar cry of distress is sounded by the sugar growers of Java. The Dutch government, while eager to alleviate the situation in her colony, would, of course, not embark upon any fanciful schemes, but private enterprise is coming to the rescue. A syndicate has been formed to buy sugar from distressed holders, and Chinese capitalists will advance loans on the sugar so purchased.

Our farmers would not care a rap whether the loans on the grain they hold are made by the government or by private capitalists, but their misfortune is the government will not and cannot do it, and our bankers are not Chinamen.

NO COMPROMISER

[Detroit Free Press]

The country turns with confidence to its new President, who brings to his new position a keen, clear mind and a character in which the quality of firmness is well developed, as the country learned at the time of the Boston police strike. Calvin Coolidge does not compromise with wrongdoing.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

If the position of Mussolini is made justifiable by circumstances, then an agreement between nations is a useless form, and a treaty might as well be regarded as fitting the description "a scrap of paper."

HENRY JAMES

The dictator says that the honor of Italy is involved, and, in effect, that this being the case, the course he may take is nobody's business. In other words, an agreement that ceases to be agreeable, is wiped out automatically. If this is good diplomacy, good diplomacy is not good sense.

Certainly the honor of Italy is involved. A nation would have hard time to find excuse for putting on its war paint were its honor not involved. The point is exactly that over which nations fight, often with the effect of making fools of themselves.

When honor is involved, a neutral spectator often is the best judge of the extent of the involvement and what ought to be done about it. When he proffers his good offices, and is scorned, then his honor in turn is likely to be involved and the fight contagion spreads.

* * *

There are experts of all sorts, and most of them are entitled to credence, but to ask that one accept the claims of an earthquake expert, is to ask too much.

Doubtless some scientists know more than others concerning these disturbances, but the wisest seems not to be aware of anything worth while on the subject.

The presence of an earthquake may be detected, but no particular expertness is required. Let's hear something concerning the cause, or as how to harness the force that so far seems much worse than wasted.

* * *

The statement is made that first estimates of damage in Japan by earthquake were exaggerated. Such error on the part of correspondents easily may be excused. However the damage still is in progress, and must continue for a long time.

To be crushed under falling buildings, burned in them, or to be drowned while trying to escape, is a fate sorry enough. However it would be better than to linger to perish of slow starvation, or to fall victim to some of the diseases sure to follow.

In the Los Angeles Express of September, 1873, which a little figuring will show was half a century back, a man is quoted as advising the planting of orange and nut trees.

Well, somebody took his advice.

Santa Barbara has had a close call from fire. It came sweeping out of wooded canyons, where doubtless it has been set by campers who did not care a whoop whether Santa Barbara burned.

* * *

Prisoners in the Los Angeles county jail raised a sum of money to prevent the burial of one of their number as a pauper. Prisoners of that institution have the reputation of being hard-boiled. If they have to stay long, they are sure to reach such status. But there is sympathy under many an exterior that gives no outward symptoms of it.

* * *

Three years ago a young woman gave evidence that caused her step-father to go to prison convicted of a detestable crime. Now she comes forward voluntarily declaring that her testimony was perjured. If she is not lying this time an unspeakable wrong has been done; and there is no undoing.

However, it would be simple justice after release of the prisoner to cause the young woman to take his place. She is as unfit to be at large as he was supposed to be.

Now the courts have a real problem. A policeman arrested a citizen for having bumped the majesty of the law with an automobile. The wife of the citizen slapped the copper, who responded with an impolite, but possibly necessary wallop. Then some participant in the fracas called some other a "dumb-bell."

This is a pretty complex situation. It is a good thing that the courts are wise.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

TO THE TEACHER

School has opened after the long vacation. The children are anxiously waiting for you to begin the term's work. Are you as anxious to give as they to get or are you just a little bit bored at the thought of the long days of routine and the endless corrections and ceaseless admonitions? Just a bit regretful at the thought of harnessing yourself to the machine again?

That will all disappear when you face the children and think what their facing you means to them. They are weak little strangers in a land of strong people whose ways are a mystery to them whose words are puzzling sounds. They are looking to you to make the dark places clear, the hard ones, easy. You would not fail them?

They are like green things in the garden, sending out little roots in search of food that will help them to stand upright in the face of the wind and the weather. They reach out quivering feelers to find a support about which they can twine tendrils that will hold fast when the storm beat hardest. You would not fail them?

They have questions to ask, but these show only in their eager eyes. Language to put them into, power to gather them into shape for the asking, is not theirs—yet. They have fears to overcome, fears that were born with them and rise in their souls and set them aquiver at the time when they would be strong and sure. There is neither the courage nor the power to quell them—yet. You would not fail them?

You would hold their hands as they make the first wild gestures toward it. You would explain and make clear the way for the clumsy hands and the stumbling feet. You would put power into their hands and inspiration into their hearts so that the story might be written fair on the page that is so soon unrolled. You could not fail them.

That is the glory of the teacher. He makes it possible for so many stories to be written. That is why he can so self-forgettingly turn to his task. His story is to be written in these thousands of records that lie spreads over the land.

And have no fear! That story shall stand. The cities the masters have builded, the statues the sculptors carved, the pictures and the books of the masters have an end but the work of the teacher has no end but carries into eternity.

As the race goes on the teacher's work goes on. The teacher creates the spirit of man. Surely no teacher will fail, then?

Somewhere, in some teacher's room today there sits the leader for whom his day is waiting. What teacher will fail him? Not one, for such is the mission of teachers.

GLENDALE BOY SCOUTS ON TIPTOE

Eagerly Look Forward to Older Scout's Conference at Santa Barbara

Glendale Boy Scouts, especially those who have made marked advancement in their scout training during the past year, will be glad to hear the following announcement concerning the third annual Older Scouts' conference to be held September 28, 29 and 30 at Santa Barbara, is the belief expressed by A. R. Eastman, president of the Verdugo Hills council, Boy Scouts of America.

The Older Scouts' conference for 1923 will be held on the beach close to Santa Barbara. The conference is restricted to older Scouts from the state of California and will be conducted under the auspices of the Regional executive board, of which Stuart B. French of Pasadena is chairman.

The committee in charge of the conference is headed by Carl J. Carlton, chairman, Scout executive of the Long Beach council; Taylor McDougall, president Santa Barbara district council; Charles N. Miller, regional Scout executive; Roland E. Dye, Scout executive, Orange county, and G. E. Kenelpp, Scout executive, president council.

The Verdugo Hills district council has been allotted eight delegates. Candidates' application for registration have been sent to all Scout leaders by Captain Wm. C. Wattles, chairman of district Court of Honor, with the request that the full information concerning the candidate nominated b turned into the district office, 103½ South Brand boulevard, not later than Saturday noon, September 22.

There will be no allotment of delegates to any one section of the Verdugo Hills district, according to Captain Wattles, but instead, each delegate must stand on his own personal record in Scouting. All candidates must be at least fifteen years of age. Must have qualified for at least five merit badges. Must have been a Scout in good standing for at least one year. Must be an active member in a troop at the present time. Must be registered and in good standing with the National council, Boy Scouts of America.

The delegates are to be housed in a camp to be located on the beach of Santa Barbara about one mile from town, on the state highway, leading to Ventura. All delegates, including leaders, will live at camp. Each group of four boys will have an adult leader or councilor, who will be fully responsible of his boys while attending the conference.

Excellent Program Scheduled

Following is the conference program:

General theme—"Opportunity."

Friday, September 28—Big swim, dinner with Santa Barbara Business and luncheon clubs as guests, inspirational address.

Saturday, September 29—Conference session No. 1. Topic, "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His Home." Conference session No. 2. topic: "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His School." Conference session No. 3, topic: "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His Community."

Sunday, September 30—Conference session No. 4, topic: "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His Church." (Taking up the place on the church in the life of a good American citizen — the twelfth Scout law and its meaning—the church as a place for making real friendships).

LLOYD GEORGE TO SPEAK IN GLENDALE?

Secretary Sanders of the Chamber of Commerce made his fellow members sit up at the meeting of directors last night when he announced there was a fair prospect that David Lloyd George, the big little man of England, might be persuaded to come to Glendale to deliver an address. He said the Canadian club of Glendale, numbering some 150 souls, had sent a delegation to wait upon him and ask that the chamber in conjunction with the Glendale post of the American Legion co-operate with the club in waiting upon Mr. George when he visits Los Angeles next month, and present the invitation.

The board instructed its president to appoint a committee of three and Daniel Campbell's name was suggested for committee membership.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NEWS AND LIST NEW BOOKS

A place where one may always find something interesting, is indeed a good description of the Glendale Public Library, with its well filled shelves of good books of both fiction and non-fiction. Preparatory to a busy winter season, work has just been completed whereby almost the entire lower floor of the library, including the juvenile room and work rooms, has been renovated and redecorated. A color was selected for the juvenile room that will form a good background for the many splendid pictures that are hung there from time to time, this also being the regular meeting place for the Glendale Art Club.

Mrs. Alma Danford, librarian, has just completed giving instructions for a summer training class for four girls, some of whom are planning to take college work this fall as part of their library work. She has also started another training class for three girls, including Miss Louise Hoyt, Miss Eula Stevenson and Miss Margaret Waters.

Books of politics, education, religion, travel and many other interesting subjects are being indexed in the work room and will soon be placed on the shelves for general distribution.

Among some of the recent fiction and non-fiction books that have been released are the following:

"North," by James B. Hendryx, a story of Alaska that is both interesting and unusual, with the great Alaskan Sweepstakes, the famous dog team race, as the exciting climax.

"Rico and Wiseli," by Johanna Spyri, two pleasing Alpine stories.

"The Four Stragglers," by Frank L. Packard. The whole atmosphere and flavor of the story is that of Monte Cristo, taking place in the present day, in places far apart, by actors strangely brought together from the ends of the earth to an unforseen climax.

"Soliloquy," by Stephen McKenna.

"The First Days of Man," by Frederic Arnold Kummer. The first volue of "The Earth's Story" as narrated quite simply for young readers.

"The Shining Road," by Bernice Brown, the romance of a boy who was "placed out" on a pioneer farm in Iowa.

"Support," by Margaret Ashmun, a story of a family living in a middle western town, dealing with the complexities, the futilities, the inescapable complications of family life. It is also the story of a woman, large of soul and courageous of mind, who grapples with the problem of economic independence.

"Three Stories in English Literature," Kipling, Galsworthy and Shakespeare, by Andre Chevrillon.

"The Temptress," by V. Blasco Ibanez, a story of the eternal feminine.

"Sweet Pepper," by Geoffrey Moss, vivid with the color of Hungary. The swing of gypsy music is in it and the cause of the heroine is worthy of thought.

"The Lone Scout," by Edward Champe Carter. A book for Boy Scouts, without a slow page from start to finish. The author shows how Scout duty may fit boys for the nation's service in work of scientific value and importance.

"Mr. and Mrs. Sen," by Louise Jordan Miln. The author of "Mr. Wu" writes another thrilling novel of modern China with the same vividness of background, absorbing interest and clear-cut characterization that made the earlier novel so popular. This new story tells of an English girl who marries a wealthy Oxford-bred Chinese.

"Corduroy," by Ruth Comfort Mitchell. A swift-paced story of the open in which a girl of the Far West and a young man from New York find love under wide skies.

"Helen of London," by Sidney Gowing, a novel of English society life.

"Mainspring," by V. H. Friedlaender. The theme of this modern novel is the growth of a soul, of self realization through suffering.

"Echo," by Margaret Rivers Larminie. Its theme is expressed by the quotation from Holmes on the title page, "The sound of a kiss is not so loud as that of a cannon, but its echo lasts a deal longer."

"Educational Problems," by Hall.

"Dictionary of Greek and Roman Antiquities," by Wm. Smith.

"Man and the Cosmos," by Leighton.

And many others.

A shoe-shine parlor has among its swarthy black-and-tan artists one shining light, a Greek boy of unusual brightness and polish. Being a steady customer of his he took quite a shine to me. The other day he seemed unusually elated and I asked: "Well, Epaminonadas, what's the good news?" He pulled a letter from his pocket that was plastered all over with Greek postage stamps. "Read meester," he said, "it ees from my ol' man." But the thing was all Greek to me so I asked him what was what. "Well, meester," he replied, "my ol' man he have big farm, raise much hay, sold, oh, so much to Greek army, he now rich." "By jove," exclaimed a wag on the next chair, "father's making hay while the son shines."

And perhaps more young men would propose if they were not afraid of being accepted.

BEAVER PATROL OF BOY SCOUTS OFF TO CATALINA

Early last Saturday morning a group of Boy Scouts of the Beaver Patrol Troop No. 2 of Glendale, with their senior patrol leader and patrol mascot, sailed from Wilmington for Catalina island and were met on the Avalon dock by their scoutmaster, H. Benjamin Robinson. Those in the party included Arthur Barton, senior patrol leader of Troop No. 2; John Torrey, patrol leader of the Beaver patrol; Wilbur Booth, assistant patrol leader; Charles Wyman, Ralph Doose, Kenneth Greenlaw, Roscoe Graham, Jack Packard and Cecil Torrey, patrol mascot.

Mr. Robinson had arranged for a cruiser, captained by one of his Avalon scouts, to take the boys about three miles down the coast to Gallager's Beach, where the scouts were to camp. Swimming and boating were the features of the camp. A big campfire was built Saturday night.

The next day was started with a 5 o'clock swim. After breakfast a hike over the ridge was taken. A band of wild goats was sighted and an exciting chase was on. Mr. Robison later captured two small goat kids. These the boys declared with great delight as camp mascots. Mr. Robison was granted a permit to bring the goats home.

On Monday morning the boys returned to Avalon on the cruiser Elmo VI, and hiked to the summit near the Yerkes observatory camp to view the eclipse. Although much of the beauty of the eclipse was not seen on account of the fog, the scouts felt that it was worth the trip, nevertheless.

The funds from the entertainment recently given by this patrol of Boy Scouts assisted in defraying the expenses of the trip.

C. OF C. WOULD SEND MEMBER TO HONOLULU

When the invitation of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to the Glendale Chamber to participate in its excursion to Hawaii was presented at the meeting of directors last night, Lloyd Wilson recommended as an advertising method that the chamber endeavor to find a Glendale member who would go, the Chamber to pay a part of his expenses in consideration of the advertising of Glendale he would do on the way. The suggestion was received with favor but no action was taken.

TEN MILLIONS OF VALUE INCREASE IN SALT LAKE LINE

That Glendale's little old "Salt Lake" line, soon to hum with the busy whirr of electric cars, is a part of a pretty big system is evidenced by the following Associated Press dispatch, received over the Glendale Press wire from Washington, D. C.:

"The 'final single sum value' of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad company, now a part of the Union Pacific system, has been fixed at $45,000,000 by the interstate commerce commission.

"The commission found that the increase in investment from 1914 to 1921 had been $10,394,000. The $45,000,000 figure will be based as a basis of rate making on the property unless further proceedings contesting the decision are instituted."

The aviator who patterns his machine after riches should be able to fly in any kind of weather.

All Ready for School

Glendale High will have Surprising Enrollment

GLENDALE High School grounds were thronged all day yesterday with eager young folk crowding in to register for the new year. Some of last year's Seniors, looking dignified in the consciousness of their new honors as alumni yet with a sad, regretful look in their eyes as they realized that school days in old Glendale High were ended, wandered around, getting in the way of bustling Freshmen, of whom, as well as Sophomores, there seemed an unending throng. Juniors there were, but what were they, coming as they do between haughty ...phs and condescending Seniors?

The enrollment bids fair to reach 2000 by the end of the month. Then when those new buildings are ready to be occupied won't everyone be happy, even though it will be hard to get along until then with half-day sessions?

On Monday next the two Intermediate and ten Grammar schools of the city will open and many hundreds of boys and girls will get busy again with their studies. Half-day sessions will be necessary in some of these schools also, until the additions to several of the buildings are completed.

In a few weeks, however, all will be in completed shape and the more than 3,000 school children will be contentedly pursuing their studies in pleasant surroundings.

BASEBALL LEAGUE PLAY PROGRESSING STATES TUCKER

Three Teams Tied for First Place; Midseason Is Reached

Play in the Community Service Baseball league is progressing well, in spite of the number of forfeited games, according to Manager Tucker. Standings of the teams yesterday showed that the City Engineers, Post Office and Fords were tied for first place, each having four wins and no looses. The Newton Electrics are second, having won three and lost one. The Glendale Press team, with two victories and one defeat, holds third place. The Standard Oil comes fourth, having won one win and two losses, and, in the the Methodist church, with one wine and two losses, and, in the cellar, the Christian church, with three defeats and no victories.

The game that was to have been played last night between the Glendale Press and the Fords was postponed with the consent of both teams. Tonight the Newton Electrics will meet the City Engineers in what promises to be a real hot scrap, deciding which team will remain on top with the Post Office crew. The Christian and Methodist church teams will hook up Thursday, while the Standard Oil and Post Office nines will meet Friday.

Play will last until the middle of October, with games every night except Saturday and Sunday. The games are called for 7:30 on the High school athletic field, and are played by the illumination of a battery of powerful lights.

Manager Tucker of the Community Service expresses hopes that the ending of the summer season will bring a renewed interest in the league, and looks forward to an enthusiastic month of baseball.

POMONA COLLEGE HAS DENIED 600

CLAREMONT, Calif., Sept. 12.—With the increased facilities afforded by its new buildings and enlarged faculty, Pomona college is anticipating the greatest year in its history. It has been necessary to deny admission to nearly 600 applicants as the academic enrollment is limited to 750. This has permitted the admission of 225 freshmen, of whom 125 are men. Applications for admission from outside California have been heavier than ever before in the history of the college and the student body will represent all sections of the United States and many foreign countries. Registration will occupy the three-day period September 17-19, and the opening convocation address at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, September 19, will be delivered by President James A. Blaisdell, D.D., LL.D.

Dear Sir: When you are trying to keep an iron shot low, what changes do you make in the swing from an ordinary iron shot? Do you play the ball from a different location? Is there any change in the method of gripping the club? Should the swing be upright rather than flat? Your advice on these points will be appreciated.

P. F. J.

Answer: One of the chief essentials in playing a shot purposely low is controlling the balance. The weight wants to be further forward than ordinarily at the top and throughout the swing. The ball may be played a little further back than for the ordinary stroke, and the swing should be a little more upright, if any change is attempted.

What is ordinarily called the "pushed shot" is nothing more than hitting the ball on a low trajectory with backspin. This backspin is gotten by making the club take the ball on the downswing, that is before it has reached the lowest point of the arc of the swing, thus pinching it against the turf. The hands are pretty well forward at the moment of impact, and for this reason there is not quite as much snap in the wrists as ordinarily.

This situation at impact brings the clubhead against the ball in such a position that apart of the natural loft of the club is eliminated in the stroke. The straighter hitting surface and the hitting down on the ball are the factors that keep the trajectory of the shot low.

RILEY DEFEATS FRANCY AT TENNIS

Score 7 to 5 and 6 to 0; Third Rround Opens In Tournament

J. P. Riley yesterday defeated H. E. Francy in their scheduled tennis match, 7-5 and 6-0. The match was a part of the Community Service tournament, for which a cup is being offered by the Glendale Daily Press.

Riley will next meet W. E. Hibbard in the third round of play. This is expected to be a real fight-to-the-finish scrap. E. M. Urich is waiting the match between Stillwell and Davidson, as he will have to hook up with the winner of that affair. Wayne Smith will meet J. D. Baker in the third round of play. Several of the entrants have not played off their matches as yet, even some of the first round.

Community Service Director Tucker expresses hope that these matches be played off in the near future in order that the tournament may be completed as soon as possible.

Frank Howe of 528 East Maple street was announced yesterday as the winner of the junior boys' round robin tournament. He has defeated every one of the nine other contestants and will be presented with the trophy within a few days.

The public has shown the Community Service every cooperation in its work, declares Mr. Tucker. Work to date has met with great success. Plans for future athletic events to be staged by the Community Service will be announced at an early date.

DYNAMITERS OUT STRONG IN FIRST

More Than Fifty Candidates Try for Places on High Team

Football practice started off with a bang at Glendale High yesterday. Fifty men, all primed for action and ready to go, turned out in uniform for the initial workout. Indications point to a much larger turnout tonight, and it is expected that better than seventy-five candidates will make a try for the team.

Not much real work was indulged in, as Coach Hayhurst thought it best to let the boys get used to the feel of the ball and to run at will. From all indications the squad was well pleased by the decision, as they capered around the field, kicking, passing and catching the ball in great order.

Pep comparable only with a bottle of home brew was displayed all through the afternoon. Never did any bunch of footballers show any more enthusiasm on the opening of practice than did the Glendale gridders yesterday. Already visions of a Central league championship flash through their minds, and they are putting everything they have into winning that championship.

Coach Hayhurst seemed very well pleased with the turnout and the spirit displayed, and expressed enthusiasm for the coming season. That he hopes to cop the Central league rag this year is no secret.

Among those who showed during the workout that they have not forgotten how to play the game are Ryan, West, Horri, Fitz, Walton and several other of the old-time stars. Newcomers and graduates from the ranks of the lightweights who have taken on some weight during the summer months, are showing the old fighting spirit as well.

Harder work and more of it is in store for tomorrow. Before the work of the day is commenced, Hayhurst will give the team the customary opening-of-the-season talk, telling of the problems that they will have to face during the coming year. Later, tackling, passing and kicking will be indulged in.

It is anticipated that by the opening of play a real football machine possessing power, speed, weight, brains and action will have been developed from the mass of material that turned out yesterday.

SANTA MONICA IS WINNER IN ELKS BOWLING CONTEST

Winning both of the scheduled games, the Santa Monica Elks out-bowled the Long Beach Elks last night at the Glendale Recreation Center Alleys. The victory gives the antlered herd from Santa Monica leadership among the bowlers of the Elks League.

The first game was won by a walk-away but in the second fracas the Long Beachers gave a real hard fight, the Santa Monica victory being won by 8 pins. The match was for the best two games out of three, and as Santa Monica copped the two opening matches the third was not played.

Large crowds of enthusiastic rooters accompanied both teams, crowding every available space. Horns, bells and other noise makers were employed by the rooters.

High School Football Arouses Interest

With the opening of practice yesterday, the Glendale High school football squad embarks on another season of play. It is with keen interest that Glendale watches the High school team this year. Losing several games by queer turns, and always getting the worst of the breaks, the Dynamiters did not show up to the best of their capacity. Although possessing considerable weight, speed and brains, they were unable to make any headway against the other schools in the league games. In one contest, with South Pasadena, they played wonderful football until the last five minutes of play, when they let down and let the opposing team score four touchdowns. It was this in and out playing that lost Glendale the championship last season. Every indication this year points to a wonderful season for the Dynamiters' eleven. Stronger than the team of last year, the squad seems to already have developed the spirit necessary for a championship outfit. They are raring to go. Let's see what they can do.

Glendale Behind the High

The writer has seen championship teams developed at Glendale High, and believes that what has been done can be done again. When Coach Hayhurst took charge of the Dynamiters in 1917, there had been no football team at Glendale High. Hayhurst set out at the job of forming a football team and he succeeded. Although there had been no team in the years previous, the boys played and knew football and a bunch of real tanbark players was soon developed. Naturally, no championship was won the first year, but some mighty hot games were played. Since that time, Glendale has twice won the Central league football banner. The 1920 squad was perhaps the strongest ever developed hereabouts. Winning the Central league pennant, they put up a hot fight for the Southern California championship, but could not make the grade. As a graduate of Glendale High, the writer is heart and soul with Coach Hayhurst in his work of developing a real football team. And so should be the entire city, for after all, a winning team gives the city wonderful publicity.

Seals Seem to Have Rag on Ice

Los Angeles and Seattle open a seven-game series in Los Angeles tomorrow. Battling to dislodge the Indians from fourth place, the Angels will put up a mighty hard fight to obtain a first division berth. The road trip from which they have returned was not quite as disastrous as was expected. The Seraphs were able to win eight of the eighteen games played in Oakland and San Francisco.

It looks like the Seals have the pennant on ice this season. Although the Sacramento Senators are pushing the Seals, there are six games separating the two teams. At the rate the Seals are going, it seems improbable that they will be dislodged by the Sacs. Giving the Vernon Tigers a hard licking this week, the San Francisco lads look like a bunch of real ball players.

Who Knows?

As the big fight grows closer, experts, so-called, are becoming almost unanimous in picking Jack Dempsey as the winner. They declare that Firpo has not sense enough to be afraid of the champ, and that he can never hope to get through Dempsey's defense. They seem to detect, however, a lack of pep on the part of the champion. Whether the big Argentine is able to defeat Jack is to be seen. In our opinion it will be a real scrap, to say the least. The dopesters did not think Gibbons would last fifteen rounds. Are they in for another surprise Friday? Quien sabe?

QUAKER CITY STAGES TENNIS TOURNAMENT

GERMANTOWN CRICKET CLUB, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Perfect weather, with a sun of mid-summer strength, which thoroughly dried the courts, and a lack of wind, made conditions for spectators and players ideal for the second day's play in the tournament for the tennis singles championship of the United States. Another large crowd was on hand.

Second round summaries:

William T. Tilden II, Philadelphia, defeated Cedric Major, New York, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0.

B. I. C. Norton, South Africa, defeated Phil Neer, San Francisco, 6-0, 6-2, 6-3.

Jacques Brugnon, France, defeated Wray D. Brown, St. Louis, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

Carl Fischer, Philadelphia, defeated E. H. Binzen, New York, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

R. Norris Williams, Philadelphia, won from Claude M. Butlen, Mexico, by default.

Frank E. Anderson, New York, defeated H. H. Bassford, New York, 6-0, 7-5, 6-2.

Manuel Alonzo, Spain, defeated I. D. McInnes, Australia, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1.

Leighton Crawford, England, defeated Walter Wesbrook, Detroit, 3-6, 6-4, 5-7, 6-0, 6-1.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Molla B. Mallory and other favorites survived the third round yesterday of the middle states lawn tennis championship at the Philadelphia Cricket club.

Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, New York, defeated Mrs. David Stern, 6-1, 6-0.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. J., With just enough work to keep his muscles loosened, Jack Dempsey today completes the five weeks' hard training for the defense of his title against Luis Angel Firpo at the Polo Grounds Friday night.

DEMPSEY HAS VERY FEW RING WEAKNESSES

Has Been Slipping But Has Not Lost His Punch

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (United Press).—In asking for an analysis of the form and general class of Jack Dempsey, it is usual for those who do not follow boxing closely or those who have never seen the world's heavyweight champion in action, to inquire:

"What is his weakness?"

Discussing Dempsey, experts invariably confine themselves to his strong points, his ability to hit with both hands, his skill as a boxer and his great fighting temperament.

The world's champion has few faults that have been brought out since he won the title and if he has any weakness it is that he can be hit.

That in itself is not a weakness, because Dempsey has been hit hard in every one of his big fights and he stood up under it. However, it is an opening and it will be his weakness if he is hit by an opponent with enough power in his punch to put him down.

The Dempsey who fought Willard was a perfect fighting machine. The Dempsey who knocked out Carpentier was too good a machine for the task imposed upon it. The Dempsey who fought Tom Gibbons was only an ordinary fighter who won only because he was stronger.

Since he was unable to knock out Tom Gibbons in fifteen rounds at Shelby on the Fourth of July, it will be necessary to figure how good Dempsey is right now, rather than how good he was before.

Dempsey made a very bad showing against Gibbons. The only thing he showed was that he had not slipped physically and that he could go fifteen rounds at top speed. His hitting was bad. He missed time after time. He was short in his judgment of distance and his timing was very bad. He also seemed to lack steam in his punches.

Most everyone who saw that fight believed that the long absence from the ring had caused the champion to grow rusty. It is a known fact among boxers that constant practice is the only thing that will keep a fighter technically on edge, and Dempsey was not on edge that hot July afternoon.

It must be figured, also, when looking back at that fight, that Dempsey missed a lot because he was boxing aaginst the fastest and most clever heavyweight in the ring. It was only natural that he should miss. Firpo couldn't touch a glove on Gibbons in ten rounds and few other slow heavyweights could reach him.

There was some reason for concern, however, when Dempsey failed even to put Gibbons on the floor. It is admitted that Gibbons was clever enough to present very few openings, but Dempsey hit him solidly enough times to put him down if he had the punch he had against Willard, Brennan and Carpentier.

* * *

The big question now is—has Dempsey lost his punch?

* * *

In training for the Firpo fight, the champion was hitting hard, boxing well and he seemed to be in much better spirits. There is no doubt that he was worried at Great Falls with the question whether he had not gone way back, and from his actions at Saratoga he feels satisfied with himself now.

Dempsey is the best hitting fighter in the world. Perhaps his punch may not have as much power behind it as Firpo's, but it has enough to accomplish the results.

He hits with both hands. His left-hook to the jaw is as dangerous and as potent a blow as there is in the ring. His right hand is just as powerful. He can box, his footwork is fine and his style is very hard to penetrate. He weaves around the ring, fights always on his toes and holds his arms so that he can shoot a left or a right from any position.

He fights with great courage and daring. He will risk a punch to get an opening for a counter, and it is at this game that he is a most deadly fighter. Tommy Gibbons figured that every time he missed Dempsey he was flirting with a knockout and he saw to it that he didn't miss. When he wasn't sure of an opening, he would not lead.

Dempsey, it must be remembered also, has always shown himself to be much better against a bigger man. His greatest fight was won against the biggest man in the ring. It is only natural, of course, that his speed would be more effective against a slow moving, awkward opponent.

* * *

There are some experts who will whisper in your ear:

"Dempsey is not game. When he's hurt he'll show it."

They say that against every great fighter when they have nothing else about which they can pan him.

You may hear also:

"Dempsey is a dope fiend. They shoot him full of hop before he goes into the ring."

EHMKE HOLDS THE YANKS TO ONE LONE SWAT

Glendale Twirler Pitches Another Great Game for Red Sox

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—Howard Ehmke, who pitched a no-hit game against Philadelphia on September 7, held the American League champions to one scratch hit here yesterday, Boston defeating the Yankees in the last game of the series, 3 to 0. Witt, the first player to face Ehmke, hit a grounder toward Shanks, which he cuffed with his glove and recovered it too late to retire the fast Witt. George Pipgrass, a young pitcher from the South Atlantic Association, started his first game of the season for New York and made a good showing. Boston scored on him in only the seventh inning, bunching two singles with Picinich's homer for thre runs. Three of the six hits off Pipgrass were made by Pitcher Ehmke.

Glendale fans who have been watching Ehmke's success as a heaver with the Boston Red Sox will be pleased to learn of the latest victory of the former Glendale twirler. Last Friday, it will be remembered, Howard shut out the Philadelphia team, pitching a no-hit, no-run game. That he was able to hold the League-leading New York Yankees to one bingle shows that Ehmke is pitching a consistent brand of baseball.

Sam Jones, Yanks' Boxman Wins Niche in Baseball of Fame With No-Hit Game

Samuel P. Jones, who hails from Woodsfield, Ohio, was balked by two little freaks of fate from pitching a perfect game when he held the Philadelphia Athletics runless and hitless. In the first inning he passed Chick Galloway and in the eighth an error by Scott, New York's shortstop, allowed Welch to reach first. But neither runner advanced. The Athletics drove only nine balls out of the infield.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12.—Around the great fist of Luis Angel Firpo's wrist when he steps into battle with Jack Dempsey in New York Friday night will be wound the blue, white and blue flag of the Argentine republic. Firpo is not superstitutious, but will wear the flag for the sake of his fans.

The Argentine gladiator will wear the familiar yellow and black checked dressing gown that he has worn at every fight he has fought since coming to the United States and his trunks most likely will contain his favorite color of lavender.

SACS OVERWHELM BENGALS TO 9-1 TUNE

Seals Defeat Portland by Lone Tally, Home Run Brings Victory

After losing a disastrous series to San Francisco, the Vernon Tigers see mto have embarked on another losing streak. Or is it the same one? Anyway, they were given the merry ha ha by the Senators at Sacramento yesterday, dropping the first game of the series to the Sacs by the astonishing score of 9 to 1.

Chief Yellowhorse, pitching for the Senators, was in excellent form, and got the Tigers by their scalp locks (if Tigers can be said to have scalp locks) in the early part of the game, and did not once let go. Bunched hits when they meant runs won for Sacramento. The poor Vernonites were unable to do a thing until the ninth, when they managed to slip over one lone tally. Schellenbach, on the mound for the Tigers, had rather rough sledding. The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Vernon	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	1
Base hits	1	0	1	0	0	1	0	0	1	4
Sacramento	1	0	0	1	2	5	0	0	x	9
Base hits	3	2	2	2	2	6	1	1	x	19

A home run by Yelle, with the bags empty in the eight inning, gave the Seals a 1 to 0 victory over Portland at San Francisco yesterday. Although outhit by the Ducks, the Seals were able to keep the northerners from scoring. The Ducks, while hammering out ten hits, could not swat the apple when hits meant runs. Shea, on the mound for the winners, was opposed by "Lefty" Leverenz. The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Portland	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Base hits	2	1	1	2	1	1	0	1	1	10
San Francisco	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	x	1
Base hits	1	1	0	2	1	0	1	1	x	7

JENSEN ADDING BOWLING ALLEYS TO EQUIPMENT

With reservation demands increasing and several new bowling leagues making requests for use of the bowling alleys at Jensen's recreation center in the Palace Grand Shops building at 133 North Brand boulevard, plans are already under way by Robert Jensen for the rearranging of a number of the pool tables. This will make room for three more bowling alleys.

The pool tables are to be moved to the mezzanine floor. In addition to the five alleys now in use, work on the additional three will be started within a week and the new alleys will be ready for use in about three weeks, ready for the fall season. More bowling teams and tournaments can then be accommodated. It is anticipated that during the winter the Glendale women will form a league. The various merchants of Glendale are planning to form leagues.

Glendale is to enter the Pasadena-Hollywood league, starting next month. Each city will enter about four teams, which will mean that there will be about three of these tournament games played each week on the Jensen alleys.

Listening in on Eve

WASTE-BASKET CURE

Blaikie, a good cigar between his lips, was padding around the new apartment in his slippers, evidently looking for something. At last he reappeared in the living room doorway.

"What's become of the waste baskets?" he demanded.

Mrs. Blaikie laid down her book.

"There!' she said. "I foresaw it this morning when I read about that man's losing weight by jumping over the waste basket twenty times a night. And, Roger, you simply can't! What would those people downstairs think of us?"

"You hid them, then?"

"I—put them out of sight. It's such utter nonsense, anyway, dear. They all say nowadays that eating less is the only sure way. It's those lunches——"

"That'll do on the lunches, please. After the starvation diet I've given myself for the last three months it doesn't set very well."

She looked him over—a large-sized look. "I am very sympathetic, dear. But all these somersaults and things! What I mean is—if you must be fat couldn't you at least be dignified about it?"

A silence ensued. Then, with real dignity, Blaikie remarked, "If there's one work that ought to be canned right out of the English language it's fat."

"I know it. I beg your pardon."

"Come on then and walk," he capitulated suddenly. "Is that dignified?"

She thrust out two white-slippered feet. "This apron dress, too," she protested. "I got into it to cook dinner and I just can't dress again."

The apron was unbleached muslin with lavender and rose peaches appliqued in black—very fetching and gay, but hardly a street costume.

It took urging before Mrs. Blaikie slipped her white-stockinged feet into a pair of dingy brown Oxfords, wrapped herself in an old evening cape of apricot cloth with black fur trimmings and stole out into the dark. Blaikie pulled a disreputable but beloved cap over his eyes and briskly propelled his 200 pounds at her side. It proved to be a lakeshore tramp, and they were both astonished when they reached their own neighborhood once more to find that the time was 1 a. m.

"By jingo!" said Blaikie, clapping his trousers pocket. "The keys! I must have left 'em on the dresser when I changed my clothes. And every door and window in the place is burglar proof."

"And you haven't found out where that visiting janitor lives yet?"

"Not I." Blaikie's hand, groping inside his coat, met a fat billbook. Then the idea came. "I'll tell you. That new family hotel down the street. D. M. Potter owns it and lives there. We'll go tell him the story and get a room."

"Rout him out of bed! And look at my shoes—and no hat!—and this apron dress!" But Blaikie was already under way.

One secret of Blaikie's success in business is that when he wants anything he hurls his whole bulk at it—mentally, physically, every way. What was it to him that he found Potter out of town? He demanded of the doubting clerk a first class room with bath. Mrs. Blaikie lingered miserably in the background.

"Baggage!" she heard her husband explode. "I've just told you our predicament and you ask for baggage! I'll see what Dan Potter will say to this! I'll—"

And the next thing she knew they had the room.

To Blaikie it was all a diverting lark. It made him jovial to see his wife, in her short apron-dress, dodging into a bathroom when the observant maid entered to turn down the covers, or a knowing bellboy appeared with ice water. The walk had tuned up his appetite and before he could be restrained he began telephoning for food at 1:30 a. m. Mrs. Blaikie was vague as to how he managed that. The billbook helped. It also brought the necessary toilet articles from the corner drug store.

The night was short in spite of a late breakfast—served in their room. That over, Blaikie, deaf to the idea of hunting up the janitor, telephoned a nearby locksmith to meet them at the apartment. Then, with uncovered head high, and the old apricot wrap drawn close over the apron-dress, Mrs. Blaikie sailed past curious eyes and down the street to her home.

"Roger," she asked, as she buckled her pretty white slippers over fresh stockings after the locksmith had left, "How much did that performance cost us?"

Blaikie did a bit of quick reckoning. "About $15."

Without a word she went to the hall closet, produced a waste basket and planted it in the middle of the room. "Jump over it whenever you like," she said.

UNDREAMED-OF PROFITS FROM CHILD CARE

Forty-seven thousand nine hundred per cent profit sounds like a dream of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" of some of the famous stocks whose records are "teasers" of wildcat stock salesmen. However, this percentage of profit has been verified by Dr. Henry Bixby Hemenway, of Springfield, Ill., a noted public health authority. It came to the city of Waukegan, Ill., from an investment of 8 cents per capita in health protection, and represents the economic savings to that community from its expenditures on health administration.

Not in the same class, but still showing profits that would make Wallingford or Ponzi envious, was the city of Evanston, Ill., which, from an investment of 31 cents per capita in health protection, realized a profit of 2,013 per cent. These figures, cited by Dr. Hemenway in the American Journal of Public Health, were a part of an analysis of losses due to communicable disease in certain districts of Illinois. And as against these profits, the analysis showed, the per capita losses from these diseases in certain counties reached $124 in one case and 37 per cent of the assessed valuation of property in another.

"The man with the chill can't work, and his farm runs to weeds," comments Dr. Hemenway. "The county which needlessly throws away an amount equivalent to from 10 to 35 per cent of its capital must be lacking in funds for ordinary transaction of business."

Applying the same thought, the American Child Health association is bending every energy to help save a huge sum in national wealth which is now lost through the needless deaths of 150,000 children who die each year before they are a year old.

Various estimates have been made by expert economists of the value of the life of a child. One of these, prepared in 1909 by Professor Irving Fisher of Yale university for the Committee of One Hundred on National Health, placed the net value of a person in dollars as follows: At birth, $90; at age 5, $950; at age 10, $2,000.

Dr. Louis I. Dublin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in a more recent estimate, advances the conclusion that the hypothetical value of a child at age 10 is more than $7,200. On this basis, the loss to the nation from these 150,000.

Child health experts from scores of cities and communities, as well as from state governments in this country, as well as from other nations, are working with the association in its endeavor to carry out the objective announced by Herbert Hoover, president of the association: "There should be no child in America who is not born under proper conditions; does not live in hygienic surroundings; who ever suffers from malnutrition."

"Before the production of Barrie's fairy classic, 'Peter Pan,'" says Alexander Woolcott in his book of dramatic criticism, "Sir Herbert Tree expressed himself to Charles Frohman, producer of the play, as follows: 'Barrie has gone out of his mind, Frohman. I am sorry to say it, but you ought to know it. He's just read me a play. He is going to read it to you, so I am warning you. I know I have not gone woozy in my mind, because I have tested myself since hearing the play; but Barrie must be mad. He has written four acts all about fairies, children, and Indians running through the most incoherent story you ever listened to;; and what do you suppose? The last act is to be set on top of trees.'"

HOPE HAMILTON STAR AT T. D. & L., SCORNS PAINT

Hope Hampton, the pretty Paramount screen player who is featured in the Paramount picture, "Lawful Larceny," which will be shown at the T. D. and L. theater again today, is fast gaining a name for herself as an upsetter of photoplay traditions. Miss Hampton's first stunt was to blossom out into film prominence virtually overnight. Winner in a New Orleans beauty contest, she was given an opportunity to appear in pictures and, without any previous screen experience, was soon shining with success in feature roles.

Hope Hampton in the Paramount Picture 'Lawful Larceny' An Allan Dwan Production

Now Miss Hampton has declared war on that accessory of the movies, heretofore deemed a necessity—grease paint.

"I used grease paint in my first picture," declared Miss Hampton recently, "because everybody told me it was the only thing to do, and I didn't know any better. The result was a caricature of my face on the screen. There were shadows and blotches that I had never seen in the looking glass. I was frightened, actually, for a time. Then I learned that it was the fault of the grease paint. I never used it again. In "Lawful Larceny," I relied entirely upon ordinary talcum powder for make-up, and the results were more than satisfactory. I'm sure grease paint is an enemy, not an aid to the screen actress."

MISS CHRISTINE JENSEN

Miss Christine Jensen passed away at her home at 375 West Broadway this morning, September 12, 1923, at the age of 64 years. She has relatives in Los Angeles and a wide circle of friends there and in Glendale. Funeral arrangements have not as yet been completed. Kiefer & Eyerick, undertaking directors, are in charge.

LUCELIA B. O'NEAL

Lucelia B. O'Neal passed away Tuesday morning, September 11, 1923, at a Pasadena hospital at the age of 23 years. She was born at Tacoma, Washington, March 14, 1900. Mrs. O'Neal leaves a sister who resides in Glendale, Mrs. E. P. Hayward.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Thursday morning at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Kiefer & Eyerick, undertaking directors, have charge of arrangements.

J. F. PITTS

Inquest over the body of J. F. Pitts of 414 South Adams street, who was fatally injured Tuesday at the Imperial Cotton Mills, will be held at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the parlors of L. G. Scovern Undertaking company.

ASBURY L. GREENLAW

With the sudden death of Asbuhy L. Greenlaw, who passed away at 3:40 o'clock this morning, Wednesday, September 12, 1923, at his home at 421 West Maple street, his wide circle of friends in this city are stricken with grief. Although for many years he had suffered with heart disease, he was about town as usual yesterday. About 3 o'clock this morning he complained of difficulty in breathing, and before it was realized that the end was near he was gone.

Mr. Greenlaw was born in Charlotte, Maine, on October 28, 1848. He moved to Illinois in 1867 and was ordained a minister in 1871, during which time he was stationed at Cobden, Effingham, Brighton, Elsa, Kane and Murphysboro, Illinois, and was later transferred to Nebraska. There he held a charge near Kearney and later, returning to Illinois, he was stationed at Bloomington. His last work as a minister was at Lawrenceville in 1896. His health failing, he returned to the old family home at Flora, Illinois.

During all his life Mr. Greenlaw was a student and in 1917 he published a book, "Resident Forces of Life."

On April 4, 1922, Mr. Greenlaw moved to Glendale. Fifty-three years ago, lacking one day, he married Helen Harding at Joliet, Illinois, and all arrangements had been made for a little celebration of this anniversary.

Mr. Greenlaw is survived by his wife and three sons and three daughters, Robert N. Greenlaw of Glendale, John A. Greenlaw of Des Moines, Paul N. Greenlaw of St. Louis, and Edith, Mary and Grace, all of whom live in Glendale.

Funeral arrangements are awaiting word from relatives. L. G. Scovern Undertaking company will have charge.

MRS. AMANDA HARTLEY

Funeral services for Mrs. Amanda Hartley, who passed away at Oregon City, Oregon, will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the parlors of L. G. Scovern Undertaking company. Reverend C. A. Cole of the Central Christian church will officiate. The body of Mrs. Hartley arrived at 7 o'clock this morning from the northern city.

GEORGE HARVEY DALE

George Harvey Dale passed away at 826 East Colorado street on September 11, 1923. He was born October 6, 1910, and had resided in Glendale only a couple of months. He leaves a sister and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dale. Funeral arrangements are awaiting the arrival of Mr. H. A. Dale from Bakersfield. L. G. Scovern Undertaking company in charge.

ALL SET FOR BIG YEAR'S WORK AT HIGH

Classes Will be Meeting and Reciting by Tomorrow

This year the high school has spread out in its registration campaign and put it all out of doors instead of attempting to stage it in the administration building. Even with this change there was a congestion. Teachers who were taking the enrollments yesterday and handing out red-covered handbooks were stationed at windows in the class-room bungalows approached by long lines of students in file. Had the instructors been dressed for the part in their balcony settings they could perhaps have qualified as dons and senioritas of old Spain. But they were altogether too American in dress, alertness and looks to ever be mistaken for any nationality so different. Neither could they be likened to Romeos and Juliets.

They worked expertly, however, and every step and favorable cushion of grass was soon occupied by students studying their handbooks and filling out blanks for their programs. That done, they had to pass in review before another set of teachers and clerks to have their programs approved.

To the outsider it seemed as if at least 1000 more students were on hand in the afternoon when freshmen and sophomores registered than presented themselves last year at this time, and as if school officers would find even half-day sessions a tight squeeze if all are to be accommodated.

They were certainly a big bunch of lively boys and girls who promise to make citizens of the kind Glendale most needs.

A good many new teachers were to be seen among groups of familiar faces and it may be so many additions will be made to the enrollment that still more instructors will have to be employed. That will be known in a few days when the general registration and class registration is checked up.

Tuesday morning at 7:30 there was a meeting of all high school teachers when instruction in the routine of the day was given.

A system has certainly been worked out and doubtless by tomorrow classes will be meeting and reciting in as well-organized a manner as though school had been in session for a month.

NEW TEACHER OF PIANO ARRIVES

In another column will be found the card of Mrs. Eleanor Newcombe-Everson, teacher of piano. Mrs. Everson is a graduate of the Chicago Musical college, and later studied with William Snyder, pupil of Leschetizky. In addition to private lessons, she will include class work in Perfield rhythm work, theory and ear-training.

Mrs. W. S. Watson of Santa Ana is the guest of Mrs. James L. Henderson of 702 North Jackson street.

I merely set it going and it brings to me a rhyme.
I touch the keys and space the words and soon here I can see
A little line of type like this, set down for you and me.
The clattering was silenced then, for I was quite in doubt
How this verse that I started there was going to come out,
But now the thing's all settled, and the end is to be seen,
And so it clatters forth again, the little type machine.

A very handy thing it is, and with it I can make
Quite all the words I know to use, and when ideas wake
It fairly sings and hums along, but sometimes it is slow,
And very hard for me to find a rhyme to make it go.
Day in, day out, it waits for me and I can hear it say:
"I wonder what the kind of verse that he will do today."
And sometimes when I've finished I can hear it clap its hands,
I've grown to think it wants to help and that it understands.

So clatter, clatter, clatter yet, this line is going fast,
Much faster I assure you than the one that you've just passed;
The keys just fly up into words, and then it says: "Hurray,
A few more lines before us and we've finished for the day."
Indeed it's much like you and me—we're anxious to be done,
So we may close the book or desk and go and have some fun.
And now it says: "Just one more line and we can run and play."
And here's the line and that is all we're going to do today.

DESTROYER 217 UPHOLDS NAVY'S HIGHEST IDEALS

First at Ruined Tokio Dock After Awful Disaster

That the finest traditions of the American navy are still upheld is evidenced by the following Associated Press dispatch from London, received over the Glendale Daily Press wire:

"The Kobe correspondent of the Central News says that refugees arriving on the steamer Empress of Australia credit the commander and officers of the American naval destroyer 217 with the most outstanding act of heroism after the earthquake. This was the dash of the craft up Tokio bay to rescue marooned foreigners in the Japanese capital. Ocean-going vessels rarely attempt to steam further up the gulf than Yokohama, and for the Americans to take their ship to Tokio through the shallow waters of the upper bay after the seismic upheaval involved unknown dangers.

"The commanders of other ships at Yokohama warned the United States navy men that it was too early to attempt to reach Tokio. Nevertheless, destroyer 217 made the run and the Americans were the first rescuers to reach the city after the disaster.

As it was impossible to dock the craft, the refugees were taken aboard from small boats and destroyer 217 returned to Yokohama, where the foreigners boarded the liners that were acting as rescue stations.

"Another dash to Tokio followed and on her return the destroyer brought the remaining foreigners who desired to leave the capital to the safety of the big ships at Yokohama."

A young doctor opened a brand-new surgery. He waited all day without a visitor, until at last a breathless man came running up the drive.

"Sit down," said the doctor, soothingly, "what can I do for you?""

"I must get on the telephone—at once," gasped the visitor. "My wife's ill and I want to ring up my doctor."
